Roman guidelines on political announcements

The Romulus Roman will endeavor to print stories on as many candidates running for office in this September primary election as possible.

A biographical sketch will be written on all those who turn in double-spaced information regarding themselves. If candidates want a one-column head shot run with the story, they must supply their own photo. However, only biographical information will be run and not campaign-oriented issues.

Candidates for office this coming election should turn in their information as soon as possible. It should be mailed to The Romulus Roman, 11 Fourth St., Belleville, Mich.

More information may be obtained by calling the Roman at 941-1275. Candidates should include spouse's name and names and ages of their children.

CB Jamboree '77 now in the books

The successful CB jamboree '77, hosted by Associated Newspapers, is now in the record books.

The event featured local disc jockies and TV personalities along with Associated Newspaper's own Nightbird. The more than 1,000 CBers that turned out for the affair were provided the opportunity of purchasing equipment and supplies at special jamboree prices. In addition 20 of the participants of the jamboree were the winners of door prizes.

As a result of the successful completion of the jamboree, and the overwhelming support for an annual jamboree, Associated Newspapers has announced that they will again sponsor the jamboree in 1978.

Watch the page of your local newspaper for further details.

Schools face drastic cuts

Millage vote will decide education quality level

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus Board of Education has voted to go to the people one more time for 8.5 mills additional operating money or face drastic cuts which would include putting kindergarten through six grade on half-day sessions.

The length of the 8.5 mills ($8.50 per each $1,000 of state equalized property valuation) would five years.

GorSilvey cast the only negative ballot in the vote.

Date the school election will be Sept. 12, the same as the primary election for city officials. Some had expressed reservations about lining it up on that date because it might "become a political football". Other board members said the money was needed and that the vote should be set for that date.

According to law, the date of the election must be a minimum of 45 days after the Wayne County Election Scheduling Committee approves the millage vote.

"We owe these kids every chance they can have," said Gloria Chandler, who was just reelected to the board. She approved the millage date, which will be the board's third try in the past six months to obtain additional operating millage. The other two attempts were made on March 19 and June 13, the last effort falling just 118 votes short of passing.

Voting yes along with Mrs. Chandler were Gerald Budd, Jack Bath, Ron Christensen, Shirley Lombardi and Wayne Avery, who won a seat on the school board in the June 13 election.

Monday night's board meeting, which was moved forward from its original July 25 date, was expected to draw a large crowd to the board of education meeting room. The main items on the agenda were the expected overflow of people are the slashes the board is scheduled to make in school closings, possible half-day sessions, layoff of teachers and cuts in transportation.

The board was to consider recommendations by School Supt. James Garfield that have to be made, he says, because of recent millage failures. Garfield's recommendations included:

Closing of Beverly, Gordonier and Mount Pleasant elementary schools.
Put kindergarten through 6th grade on half-day sessions.

Barbeque on Saturday to renew Rotary event

Get the family together and be ready for some good old-fashioned fun food and fellowship this Saturday, July 23.

The Romulus Rotary Club is planning a barbeque chicken dinner from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. Saturday at Five Points Park, Goddard Road and Huron River Drive.

"We want to get this barbeque chicken dinner event going again after a two-year absence," said Rotarian Doug Baum, who is helping head up the project.

The Romulus Rotary Club held the dinner for 18 consecutive years as an annual fund-raising event except for the past two years when they went to other projects to raise money.

"This dinner is being held, not necessarily to make money, but to give people the opportunity to get together and have a good time," said Baum. "Anyone knows that $2.50 price per dinner will hardly cover the cost. But we want to provide an opportunity for people to get together in a free and relaxed manner like we used to years ago."

The dinner will consist of barbequed chicken, cole slaw, rolls and butter, potato chips, soft drinks and coffee. "We want everyone to come out and join us at Five Points Park for a good time," added Bob Mach, chairman of the barbeque dinner.

Mach also said he was grateful for those who helped make the Fourth of July Romulus Rotary Club parade float a big success.

On the 40-foot float was sod, picnic tables and a barbeque grill with chickens cooking.

"The Rotary Club owes a special thanks to the Mitchell Brothers and Hillcrest Sod Farms and also to George Schiller for donating his time to drive the huge float," said Rotary Club president Vince Makino.

On Saturday, Mach has specific jobs assigned for each Rotarian, with Elmer Goerke and Ed Baum being the good will ambassadors on hand to greet everyone.

The barbeque dinner will be held in the Rotary Pavilion, which was built by the Rotarians in the club in 1973.

Prepare Rotary barbeque

Many Romulus Residents will be feasting on barbeque chicken Saturday as a result of the Rotary Club's reinstituting an 18-year-old tradition. Helping to make the event a big success are (from left) Bob Mach, barbeque dinner chairman; William Oakley, co-chairman; Jase Lovette, district 640 governor-elect of Rotary International; Vince Makino, Romulus Rotary president; and Doug Baum, barbeque chicken dinner ticket chairman.

Two years or four years?

Length of term in office is up to voters Sept. 12

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Should elected city officials have two or four years to show what they can do?

Romulus voters will get a chance to voice their opinion on the subject at the September 12 primary election as a result of City Council action last week.

Council gave its unanimous approval to a citizen petition by John Johnson to put on the ballot the opportunity to increase the present two-year terms to four years for elected officials. Most incumbents are doubling the present two year term.

But Councilman Jimmie Raspberry, who has served as an elected official in Romulus for 20 years, is strongly opposed. "I'm against it," he said candidly.

"I feel elected officials should come up for election or reelection every two years for the public's consideration." He pointed out that he felt, if an elected official performed his office as he should, he would be reelected.

He also agreed that some of the points concerning staggered four-year terms has merit. But he added, "If I helped elect a poor official, I would feel bad and have to live with that decision four years. After seeing what's happened lately in Romulus, I'm surprised that people would suggest a four-year term."

"However, a change in the caliber of people running for local office would lend itself to four-year staggered terms. But right now, I think two years is enough," Raspberry said.

Under the plan, the mayor, treasurer and four council candidates receiving the most votes would begin four-year terms. The city clerk and remaining three elected council members each would serve two-year terms. After that, each position would be filled every four years.

Johnson said he had several hundred signatures on the petition to put the referendum on the ballot. He held a meeting at city hall about two months ago to drum up support for increasing the terms to four years and only three people showed up. His group has been gathering signatures the past few weeks and approached council last week, receiving its unanimous approval to put it on the ballot.

"I really think it will help a lot to have four-year staggered terms," Johnson said after council's approval. "I think it will give elected officials more time to concentrate on running the city and not have to spend so much time running for office."

Johnson added, "However, I believe there are good points on both sides of the question."

Councilman William Oakley, a candidate for mayor, highly favors the four-year term. "I think it's to the benefit of the community to have elections every four years," Oakley said.

The veteran, seven-year councilman especially liked the idea of "staggered" terms for elected officials. "That way, you wouldn't have the possibility of a whole new group of people running the city," he said. "For instance, the mayor and clerk would be in different election years, so there would always be one who was familiar with city business in the event one was not reelected."

Oakley said he also felt that department heads would have four years to prove themselves, rather than the present two years.

Councilman Bob Martin felt two years was not enough time. "As a new councilman, I found that two years was too short a time for newly-elected officials to learn facts and procedures and make sound judgments," he said.

He said the four-year term would give officials a firmer record for voters to review and would knock out the big party politics he said was destroying Romulus.

Treasurer John Lewkowicz said he was against the increase because he felt elections would still have to be held every two years anyway. You'd still have the expense of elections every two years, so it wouldn't accomplish anything in that sense," he was quoted as saying.

He added that to keep the officials doing their job and keep the citizens in control, the terms should be left at two years.

City Clerk Leonard Folmar, a seven-year veteran in that post, felt it would stop a lot of political bickering if elected officials had four-year terms and also if they were staggered terms.

"I think it would go a long way in improving relations," he said. "I think it would eliminate some of the politics involved and make the officials more issue-oriented."

Mayor James Stewart, who is running for reelection, favors the four-year proposal. "Two years isn't long enough to start many projects and complete them," he said.

"Anything requiring federal funding takes a year to get the funding. Then your opponent might not continue them, and all your time, money and effort is thrown out the window."

Elected officials, as well as other candidates for office, have strong feelings on whether their terms should be for two or four years, but the voters will make the final decision in the election booth Sept. 12.

Board refuses half-day classes

The Romulus School Board refused to put students on half-day sessions at their board meeting Monday night planned especially to consider budget cuts.

Faced with a $660,000 deficit, the board was given recommendations by Supt. James Garfield that would have included half-day sessions for grades 1-6. His proposal would have slashed $901,000 from the budget.

However, the board deadlocked on a 3-3 vote to put the children on half-days, with Ron Christensen absent. Shirley Lombardi, Gloria Chandler and Gerald Budd voted for the motion, while Gordon Silvey, Wayne Avery and Jack Bath said no.

Half days would have saved $500,000.

The board finally voted, 4-2, to cut ancillary services "as much as possible". Ancillary services include transportation, food services, custodial services, maintenance and secretarial staff.

Garfield estimated these cuts would save $150,000 minimal and $450,000 maximum. More cuts will have to be made. He said he would have the revised budget ready for the next board meeting Aug. 8. (A full story on the board meeting will be in the next issue of the Roman).

Lay off of approximately 50 teachers.
Cuts in bus transportation.

It was shaping up as a very "vocal" meeting, with the word spreading quickly throughout Romulus about the suggested slashes in programs, classes and school closings.

If the school board approved Supt. Garfield's recommendations of closing Beverly, Gordonier and Mt. Pleasant elementary schools and going to half-days for K-6th grade, the layoff of the 50 teachers will result.

The negotiators for the school board and Romulus Education Association (REA) were reportedly on the verge of agreeing on a 3-year contract when a last-minute demand for dental care by REA threw the discussions completely off the track.

"We were right close to a 3-year settlement when this dental care proposal was dropped on the school board negotiators at the last second and it hadn't even been discussed," said an informed source. "That drove a wedge between the two negotiating teams and now they are very far from settlement."

Both sides had hoped to ratify the teacher's contract before the Sept. 12 election. They felt the operating millage would have a much better chance to pass if the teachers' contract had already been resolved. Romulus school teachers worked this entire past school year without a contract.

Take care, don't gamble with your heart

"I'm not a gambling man." How often have you heard someone make that statement?

The fact is, all humans gamble with their lives to some extent, just going about their daily activities. But there are some gambles which we all recognize would be just plain foolhardy — like lighting a match over a can of gasoline.

There are precautions people can take regarding heart attack and stroke, too, which are every bit as sensible to take as fire safety precautions.

Those precautions involve "risk factors", or conditions which increase a person's chances of having a heart attack or stroke. According to the Michigan Heart Association, over one million people will die of heart attack and stroke this year in the United States. Not to be aware of the "risk factors" and eliminate as many of them is to gamble with your life. High blood pressure, for instance, is the main risk factor leading to heart attack and stroke, and affects one in every six adults in this country, many of whom are not even aware they have it, yet is detected by a quick, simple test and is usually controllable with medication and diet. Cigarette smoking drastically increases a person's chances of heart attack and stroke. A man who smokes more than a pack a day has nearly twice the risk of heart attack and nearly five times the risk of stroke as a non-smoker. Should that man stop smoking, however, his chances of having either a heart attack or a stroke drop nearly to that of a person who has never smoked.

Some studies have also shown that those who lead sedentary lives run a higher risk of heart attack than those who get regular exercise. Before beginning any exercise program, however, a person should be tested by his physician who can then prescribe a program to suit him.

Youngsters learn crafts

Nine-year-old Kim Kovacs didn't pay too much attention to the photographer as her mind was concentrating on some tricky crocheting techniques. Kim was one of 200 youngsters attending Day Camp sponsored by the Huron Valley Girl Scouts. The scouts braved 90 degrees plus temperatures for a week of activities that included crafts and games. Among the activities were candle making, a bike hike, tie-dyeing, sand crafts and more. ANP photo.

The Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act of 1974, which became effective on June 20, 1975, is an attempt by Congress to make significant reforms in settlement (closing) procedures, relating to one-to-four-family residential property. This act requires that the purchaser of residential property be given extensive and timely information about the nature and cost of the settlement process. It also attempts to protect purchasers from unnecessarily high settlement charges.

Helps rescue six from wrecked car

Romulus Marine is honored for bravery

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

A 20-year-old Romulus Marine, whose father has 26 years of marine service, has recently been honored for his bravery.

Lance Corp. John D. Braithwaite, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Braithwaite, 15649 Harrison, helped pull six victims from an overturned car at high risk to himself and his buddy.

The 1975 Romulus High School graduate is stationed at Ft. Meade, Md. and is attached to the National Security Agency, a top-rated outfit which only the most qualified Marines are permitted to join.

John and his buddy, Gordon B. Kearsey of Oklahoma, were standing by the entrance to a high security building when they saw an automobile overturn, trapping the six passengers inside. The pair of marines grabbed a fire extinguisher and had the fire under control before the fire department arrived.

In commending young Braithwaite, Commanding Officer Col. O.R. Swigart, Jr. stated: "On 29

JOHN D. BRAITHWAITE

April 1977 your actions in providing assistance to the victims of a serious automobile accident are hereby commended.

"The instant and efficient medical aid you provided possibly prevented serious complications to those injured in their overturned automobile, even though it was saturated with spilled gasoline, was accomplished at extremely high risk to yourself.

"Your performance was noteworthy and a credit to yourself and this command and was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Marine Corps."

For his outstanding service, Braithwaite was the subject of a Meritorious Mast conducted by the commanding officer at the Marine Barracks, Fort Meade, on June 1.

However, high honors is nothing new to Braithwaite, who played varsity football and baseball at Romulus High. He was a first baseman on the baseball team and was awarded a trophy as the best back when he played fullback on the grid squad.

After high school, John attended college for a brief period, but found his real desire was to be a Marine like his dad. He took to it like a duck to water. He came out of boot camp with a meritorious promotion and the rank of PFC.

He was chosen as a squad leader, one of only four chosen out of 181 marines who started. In the special training for squad leader, 181 began the rigorous grind for a position with a top-security unit. The squad was cut to 86, then to 12 and finally to four, with young Braithwaite chosen as one of the four squad leaders out of the original 181.

"Naturally we're very proud of John," said his mother, who is employed at city hall in Romulus. "He's always been a fine young man and we're glad that he's carrying on in the tradition of his father."

Mrs. Braithwaite admitted she was a little disappointed when John dropped out of college. "I didn't know just how well he would do," she said. "But he didn't take long to show us he meant business."

Braithwaite was honored for his performance for the first three months of this year by being named to the Order of the Eagle, Globe and Anchor, an exclusive group. His certificate read: "Lance Corporal John D. Braithwaite has been selected for membership in the above named Order for the first quarter of the year 1977.

"This selection is based on his performance of duties as a United States Marine while serving with Marine Barracks, Fort Meade, Maryland. Let it be known that this Marine, a member of the world's finest fighting force, proved himself to be among the finest — a marine's marine."

It was signed by Sgt. Major J.J. Nozar and Col. Swigart, Jr.

"When John was chosen for this high-security job, the FBI checked out John and the entire family thoroughly, from the kindergarten right on through school," Mrs. Braithwaite explained.

"If you have even one black mark on your personal record, they will not let you join this elite group." She went on to say that John did it on his own and deserves all the credit.

"But I do believe we should give praise to all those who accomplish something worthwhile in life. People growing up today are facing a hard struggle and deserve all the praise they get when they do a good job."

John has a brother, Jeffrey, 19, and two sisters, Janice, 18, a 1977 graduate of Romulus High who was awarded a scholarship to Detroit College of Business, and Joni, 14, who will be in the 10th grade at RHS in September.

County board considers outcounty jail, court

Once again the Wayne County Board of Commissioners is considering the building of a Western Wayne County jail, but this time the proposal is coupled with construction of court facilities and other county services that previously were offered only in downtown Detroit.

The Board of Commissioners, while approving the study of three sites in Detroit for its new jail, also approved an amendment to consider building a Wayne County complex in Western Wayne County. The three sites being considered are in Westland, Romulus, and Inkster.

The suggestion was made by Commissioner Richard E. Manning (D-Redford-Livonia). His proposal authorizes the County Board of Auditors to request rezoning of county-owned land in the three suburban locations for the purpose of constructing a 250-bed jail, six circuit courtrooms and facilities for County Clerk, Treasurer, Register of Deeds and Friend of the Court Services.

According to a county spokesman, the vote on the amendment passed 14-8.

Commissioners representing the three affected cities — Tom Presnell (Westland), John Barr (Westland, Inkster), Royce Smith (part of Westland) and Edgar L. Harris (Romulus) — all voted yes, the county spokesman verified.

There has been talk for some time about out-county jail and court facilities. Although area officials were concerned when a temporary jail was installed in a vacant building at Wayne County General Hospital, the feeling has always been more positive for jail facilities that would include courts and county services.

Howe, the decision to scout out-county property in those three cities is already up for reconsideration at the next meeting, probably in August.

Detroit Commissioner Arthur M. Carter filed a motion to reconsider the decision, a move that would require a two-thirds majority vote, said the county spokesman.

His argument is that Detroiters supported the jail millage last year with the understanding that a downtown jail would be built first.

However, Manning is arguing that half the county population is outside Detroit, and "is entitled to just as much convenience."

"It only makes sense to want to do for Western Wayne County residents what we try to do for Detroit citizens."

Manning noted that plans are underway to possibly expand and consolidate downtown court facilities for more efficiency and convenience. "Then it ought to be made equally as convenient for people living outside Detroit," he said.

Explaining the intent of his amendment later, Manning said the idea is to provide new jail facilities in both Detroit and Western Wayne County, but not necessarily 800 beds in either place.

Gentlemen, start your pedals!

Getting ready for their turn in the first annual Belleville Bicycle Race held recently were these eager young men while a large, enthusiastic crowd shouted encouragement. More than 100 entered the race and co-chairmen Donald Carlson and Jon Hale said the event was a big success.

They especially thanked the 25 volunteers who helped stage the contest and were prepared with first aid if necessary. Fortunately, all fifteen races went off without a hitch.

Board plans to fight disease

To protect against a possible epidemic and a disease that killed four people in Michigan in 1975, the development of a contingency plan involving local communities and neighboring counties has been authorized by the Wayne County Board of Health.

County Commissioners Royce E. Smith, from Belleville, and Edgar L. Harris, whose district includes Romulus, said that the plan was conceived as a precaution against another outbreak of the disease called St. Louis Encephalitis (SLE). Both Smith and Harris are members of the 5-person Health Board.

In addition in 1975, they said, there were 90 other cases of human infection in the State, 36 of them in Wayne County.

They explained that SLE is caused by a virus that is transmitted by mosquitoes among wild birds, and sometimes from the birds to humans.

Smith said that human infections occur in urban-suburban localities usually because of house sparrows and pigeons that are often in close proximity with humans.

Besides its threat of death, SLE in humans can severely disable the central nervous system, Harris pointed out.

The contingency idea was decided on the basis of reports from a bird surveillance program throughout the county last year in which many birds were trapped and their blood samples analyzed.

A contingency measure is needed, said Smith, partly because there is no well organized or adequately funded mosquito control program in southeastern Michigan.

Also, he added, it is too late to kill mosquitoes or attempt to marshal enough people and money once an epidemic actually begins.

"It is important for community officials to begin now to develop contingency programs if they hope to be effective in preventing or minimizing future SLE cases," Harris said.

Both commissioners stressed, however, that the contingency plan is precautionary only, "intended as sort of an early warning system," and that there is no cause for alarm at present.

"Neither do we plan to go out and immediately start spraying mosquitoes," Smith advised. "In fact, we hope that our contingency plan, which includes more bird monitoring, will indicate that we won't have to spray at all.

"What we are saying is that if we do find evidence that we should spray, the communities ought to be prepared for it when the time comes."

"We need joint community planning and the cooperation of neighboring counties because any outbreak would more than likely not be confined to just Wayne County," Harris added.

Smith and Harris said that appropriate officials in the units of government they hope to involve have already been notified, and the first meeting is scheduled for today with officers in the Environmental Division of the County Health Dept.

Legal or not, board trustees want no pay

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Believe it or not, there still are elected officials who do not want to be paid.

The Romulus Board of Education proved that when they said they would not take advantage of legislation recently approved by Gov. William Milliken. The governor signed a bill on June 30 that would allow school board members to vote themselves up to $30 per meeting for a maximum of 52 meetings per year.

The new school law does not mandate the compensation, but merely gives a school board permission to vote themselves the stipend.

"We weren't even aware of any such law," said a surprised Romulus School Board member when informed that Wayne-Westland school board members had voted themselves a $30 per meeting stipend last week.

"Everyone on the Romulus School Board that I've talked to does not want to be paid any money for serving," added the board member. "It gives you a feeling I can't describe when you know you don't receive any pay for trying to better your schools as a member of the school board."

count. Then she was nominated for the secretary's job and won.

"We have some male chauvinists on the board," she said candidly. "I would have liked to be president or vice-president," she admitted, "but the same people voted in the same way both 4-3 decisions. She vowed she would be president of the school board before she finishes serving as a member of that group."

In other action the school board: Tabled the fixing of Hale Creek school sidewalk when it received only one bid out of eight letters sent out. Thomas M. Janack, assistant superintendent for maintenance and operation, recently fell off a ladder at one of the schools and suffered a pinched nerve, it was reported. He has his neck in a brace and has not been able to work on the job. The board is waiting on his recommendation.

In two bidding situations awarded, Detroit Pure Milk Co. won the contract to supply milk, and Canejo Trucking, Inc., low bidder, was given the rubbish removal contract.

The board accepted the $46,500 bid of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Davis of Romulus to purchase the new house recently built by the building trades class of Romulus High School.

Board members approved $250 for bus transportation to Eager Beaver Day Camp.

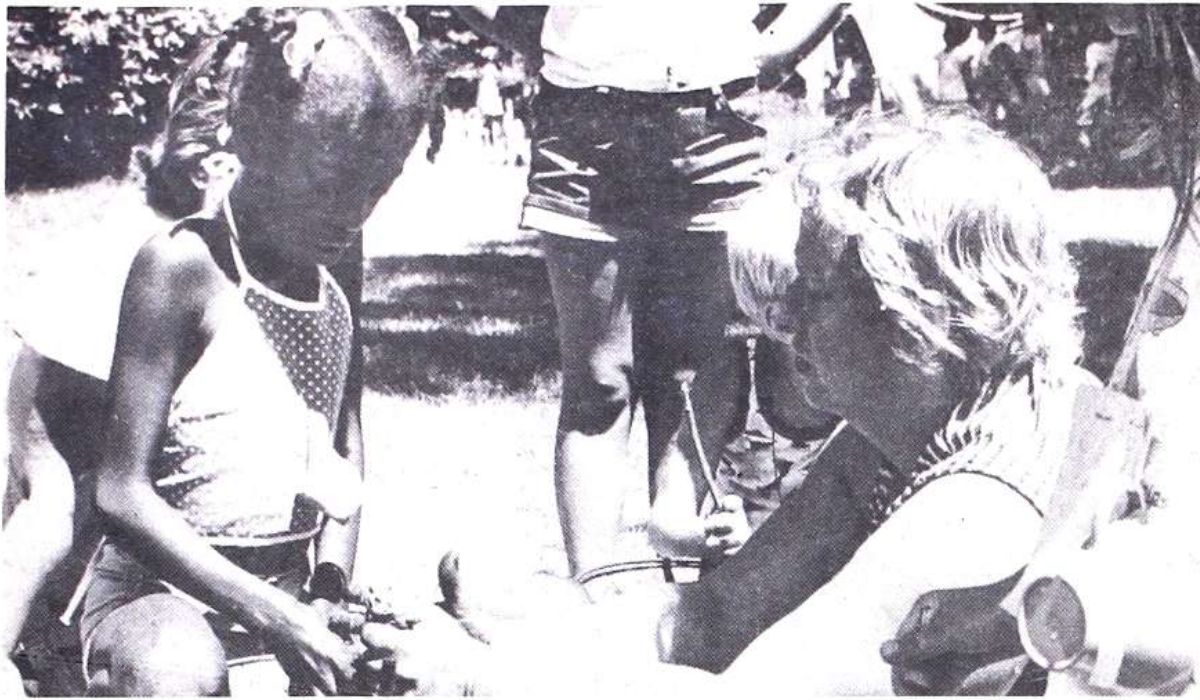

In personnel changes, Pearl Bower, who has been with Romulus Schools for 27 years, has retired as cafeteria manager at the high school. She was commended by the board for her long and faithful service.

Cheryl Buhr, a teacher at Merriman elementary school, was granted a one-year leave of absence for maternity reasons.

Paul Lammers, a teacher at Romulus High School, resigned for other employment.

Pat El-Abbasi, a Technical Aide and Jerry Kupser, hall monitor, both resigned their positions at the high school.

Teachers Mary Albus of Wick School and Gail Perkins of Gordonier were both granted health leaves.

Teamwork does it

We can't figure out exactly what 9-year-old Tracey Douglas (left) and leader Maggie Applegate (right) are doing, but it looks like some gooey business. Both have their hands in the pot and are working together on a pretty important project—could it be tie-dyeing? There were numerous activities available last week as scouts from all over the ANP area participated in a day camp sponsored by the Huron Valley Girl Scouts. Some 200 youngsters attended the day camp at the Lower Rouge Parkway on Venoy Road between Glenwood and Michigan Avenue. ANP photo.

Bus tours offered to area metroparks

A special summer program of bargain bus service to six of the area metroparks was announced recently by the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority.

The State funded project makes possible individual fares of $1.10 round trip when tickets are purchased in advance. Round trip fares are $1.25 when purchased on the date of travel.

Buses are running to the following park locations: Metro Beach, Stoney Creek, Kensington, Lower Huron, Willow and Oakwoods Metroparks.

The summer program is a three-way joint venture of SEMTA, the Detroit Department of Transportation and the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority, operators of the Metroparks system. The Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation is funding the demand-responsive bus project.

Bus tickets are being sold on a first-come, first-served basis and may be obtained by making telephone reservations. Detroit residents should call 224-1550. Suburban residents may make their reservations by calling 581-4503.

The special Metropark bus service operates on weekdays between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., and in the evening from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. On Saturdays and Sundays, service will be from 9 in the morning to 9 at night.

When making reservations, callers should specify their preferred days of travel, the number of people making the trip, their preferred time and place of pick-up, and which Metropark they wish to visit. Reservations will be accepted subject to the availability of buses and bus drivers.

In some instances, groups traveling to the same Metropark may be combined in order to fill as many bus seats as possible, thereby serving as many people as possible.

Housing starts up greatly in Michigan

Housing construction in Southeast Michigan significantly increased last year, according to the 1976 version of "Residential Construction in Southeast Michigan" released recently by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

That booklet shows the number of residential building permits recorded during 1976 at 19,642, an increase of 24.3 percent over the totals recorded for 1975.

"I think this is an indication of the general upswing in the economy," said newly-appointed SEMCOG housing subcommittee chairperson Justine Barns, Westland city council president.

"If the current economic trend continues," she added, "I think we will continue to see an increase in residential construction activity."

From 1975 to 1976, all seven counties in Southeast Michigan experienced an increase in building permits recorded. The greatest increase occurred in Oakland County, followed by Macomb County.

Construction of multiple family dwellings continues to remain at low levels, while single family construction activity is on the increase regionwide.

Sterling Heights led all communities in the number of total permits issued, followed by Troy, Canton Twp. and Southfield. Southfield also registered the greatest number of multiple family dwelling permits.

The city of Detroit accounted for 80 percent of the demolition permits recorded in the region, up 33.4 percent from 1975.

A copy of Residential Construction in Southeast Michigan 1976 can be obtained from SEMCOG's Information Services office, 961-4266.

Celebrity pitcher Mark "the Bird" Fidrych of the Detroit Tigers "pitched" a personal invitation to John Barr, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, to encourage some 3,000 delegates expected to attend the

Booze big factor in auto accidents

Analysis by the Michigan State Police of this years, July 4 holiday weekend traffic accidents which claimed 24 lives showed drinking to be a factor in nine or 41 per cent of the 22 fatal mishaps, according to a report review by Col. Gerald L. Hough, department director.

The study was made by the department's traffic division for the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. Friday, July 1, to midnight Monday, July 4. Toll for this holiday in Michigan last year was 19. Delayed deaths charged to the holiday period this year are expected to raise the toll slightly.

Fatal accident types and drinking factor involvement were as follows in the analysis: fourteen two-vehicle accidents, seven involved motorcycles and five had drinking involvement; seven one-vehicle accidents, usually run off the roadway type. (Of these, three involved motorcycles, four had a drinking factor involvement.); one car-pedestrian accident, no drinking involvement.

There were two multiple-death accidents in the holiday period. These were double fatality mishaps, with one occurring in Oakland county, the other in Marquette county. Both were the two-vehicle head-on collision type.

Of the 22 fatal accidents, 10 or 45 per cent of them involved motorcycles.

Deaths by days during the period included two on July 1, 10 on July 2, five on July 3 and seven on July 4.

An editorial opinion

A new attitude is necessary for Romulus

Recent events occurring in the City of Romulus, while probably directly related to the fact that this is an election year, cast serious doubt on the question of where some of the elected officials of Romulus feel their loyalties lie.

In the politically-charged atmosphere surrounding city hall, Mayor James Stewart has consistently overreacted to situations created by others for the purpose of making political hay.

Stewart, never a man to mince his words, has consistently found himself in the middle of one heated exchange after another, usually with City Treasurer John Lewkowicz as the recipient of the mayor's lack of restraint.

Lewkowicz, on the other hand, the announced candidate for city treasurer on the Terry Troutt slate, seems to excel in the art of making very strange decisions (such as locking a typewriter in a city safe in order to avoid having that machine transferred to another department).

At times it would appear that he must spend as much time in the effort of antagonizing the mayor as he does performing his duties as treasurer.

While in the past it might have been sufficient to sit back and simply grin at the show down at city hall, today that is no longer possible.

Romulus now sits at the crossroads!

There are very few communities in this area with the potential that Romulus has. With an already enviable industrial base, the city now waits only for proper leadership in order to blossom into a modern giant.

That leadership will never be possible unless the citizens of Romulus make the decision to see that it happens.

It is once again time for the citizens of the community to take the lead.

It appears that the local political leaders, both in and out of office, will spare no opportunity to make political "points" even at the possible expense of the citizens that they claim to represent. It is time for the citizens of Romulus to make themselves heard. It is time for the citizens to demand responsible actions from those who seek to lead the community.

We feel a look at Romulus' recent history will provide some insight into the motives behind the actions of some of the "leaders" of the community.

Early in the year, Mayor Stewart attempted, following an independent audit of the city's financial condition, to raise the water rates to comply with the city charter. His proposal was greeted with, what we think, was a purely politically motivated attack by the Troutt faction on the city council. The attack on Stewart in our opinion was based only on political considerations, and the citizens of Romulus ended up the losers.

Former Mayor Terry Troutt went so far as to help organize a successful petition drive to throw out the eventual water rate increase, and again in our opinion, he did so only to make political hay. Again, nothing was resolved and the citizens were the losers.

Last week Mayor Stewart, in his now famous wall moving episode, subjected the citizens of Romulus to a circus atmosphere as a result of his overreaction to Treasurer Lewkowicz's alleged improper hiring procedures. Stewart did not overreact to protect the people of Romulus, he did so only for political motives.

We feel that it is time for all candidates for public office to put aside their own petty political dirty tricks.

Romulus needs effective leadership now!

It makes little sense in our judgment for the candidates for office in Romulus to spend the better part of a year tearing down their own town, only to have to spend the next two years trying to rebuild it.

Anyone seeking elected office in Romulus must think first about the city, and only secondly about their own political aspirations.

There is no other successful course. It has been tried before, and it has always failed the people.

Bald Eagle Speaks

Looting is breaking law

By BOB AMEEN

The recent 25-hour blackout of New York City and its suburban area is a sad testimonial to what can happen when city, state and federal governments neglect to take precautionary measures.

The looting, which is estimated at several hundred million dollars, hit and the black and Spanish areas of the city the hardest. Despicable as these acts of looting were, they were even more monstrous for these sections of New York City, for merchants there were not able to absorb the huge financial losses as well as their more affluent counterparts in richer areas.

Many merchants and businessmen lost their life savings, and were so hard hit, that they will never be able to open their doors again.

For such a widespread plague of looting to take place in such short span of time reflects just how sick our big metropolitan centers have become in the last few years. This horrible nightmare could never have happened but for a lack of foresight by elected officials too weak in character to exert the authority vested in them to prevent such man-made catastrophes.

Looting is breaking the law — stealing during times of emergency when law enforcement agencies are up to their neck performing a multitude of other needed tasks. In the parlance of the prize fight ring, it's "hitting below the belt."

Even a similar brownout in 1965 in which about 100 looters were arrested failed to convince those in authority in New York City that preventative steps had to be taken to make sure it did not happen again. This time, nearly 4,000 looters were arrested, a mere fraction of the thousands more estimated to have taken part in the wholesale theft and forced break-ins of more than 2,000 stores and businesses.

Not only should every available police officer have been put on the street, but the Governor of New York state should have mobilized the national guard and stationed them in areas where they had good reason to suspect looting would be a foregone conclusion.

In addition, following the 1965 brownout, responsible officials should have issued a standing proclamation that stated, that in times of emergency or national disaster, looters would be shot on sight.

Harsh as these measures may seem, no supposedly civilized nation can hope to exist for long if such flagrant violations of the law are allowed to happen.

Not belted out is Con Ed, the giant utility company with its head in the sand. Without being an electrical genius, it doesn't take much in the upper story to know that it's not too smart to put all of your eggs in one basket. How could one bolt of lightning do so much damage initially? Why didn't Con Ed have a dozen or so substations which decentralized its electrical power? Then, when one substation was knocked out, the extra electrical burden placed on the remaining substations would be small and not place great strain on any one.

Looking back, it is evident that the looting in New York City has set the civil rights movement and overall integration back a few years, something that members of the black and Spanish peoples can ill afford at this time. The cooperation of their leaders is vital to working out steps to see that such a happy-go-lucky looting of their neighbor's property does not happen again.

As the wise Ben Franklin of yesteryear was fond of saying — "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Health beat

What about daydreaming and your mental health?

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

It's my intention today to address this column to that somewhat nebulous entity called mental health.

I'm making notes for this piece on the back of a postcard, as we — my wife Donna and myself — are snugly ensconced in the comfort of a Northwest Orient Airlines DC-10. We have just thundered off the runway at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, and are flying westerly for a long overdue vacation.

If you enjoy flying, you can appreciate the almost overwhelming sense of arrogance which invades your soul as you actually defy the laws of gravity and overcome its influence. And, that's my feeling at this moment.

I glance out at some interesting cumulus clouds to the south of our position, and am about to return to my purpose of putting together some intelligible notes when my eyes are attracted to the University of Michigan football stadium — the largest such structure in the world used only for intercollegiate football.

I daydream. I think about the many hours I've spent in that arena, both as a competitor, and now in my later and possibly saner years, as a spectator. And I'm convinced that the daydreaming fits nicely into the subject of mental health.

Daydreaming, it seems to me, is really a harmless exercise — there is a little Walter Mitty in all of us, and if the daydreaming doesn't supersede reality, then what's the harm?

To be sure, in the fantasy of daydreams you were faster, stronger, quicker, and had excellent hands which never dropped a forward pass. But you smile to yourself and return to the world as it really is — demanding yet considerate, harsh yet kind, cold yet warm. The real world is O.K. If you want to participate and give it your best shot, know that things will work out for you.

I reach forward to the back of the seat in front of me and withdraw from the pouch on that setback the various reading materials provided for travelers.

It's the usual collection: an employer house organ, an advertisement for a motel chain, a small placard written in both Japanese and English telling a passenger what to do in the unlikely event this airplane should take a notion to plunge into the sea. Strange, I think. I've been a devotee of flying since 1951 when I first flew in the US Air Force. Only on a few occasions have I honestly been frightened. But every time I read one of those 'how to survive' notices I become a little unsettled.

My musing is interrupted by the voice of the Captain over the airplane intercom. He informs us that in three minutes we'll be at the eastern shoreline of Lake Michigan. We'll cross this lake in only a few minutes he tells us, and will then fly over the northern portion of Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

The sky is a magnificent blue, and there are no clouds to be seen as we start the crossing. I look to the north, and the lake goes on forever. This artifact of the Ice Age must be seen from our vantage point — some seven miles high — in order for one truly to appreciate its splendor.

I see a freighter making its way toward Michigan, and I'm reminded somehow of the crossings I used to make as a small child on the auto ferry between Michigan's two peninsulas. The big Mac bridge has now obviated the ferry boat service, but it's nice to have been a part of a special era.

Now we can see Milwaukee. It's a busy metropolis with a population approaching 1-million citizens. Vehicular traffic is abundant, and the famous breweries are busy producing their own kind of dream world.

Our course now changes and we are flying northeast. I try to make notes, but the panorama below makes concentration very difficult. I am hypnotized by the variously colored patchwork of farmland which dominates the Wisconsin landscape, and I think, how fortunate we are to have such an abundance of food available to satisfy both our hunger and our appetite!

Now the Captain's voice comes on again, just as the 'Fasten Your Seatbelt' and 'No Smoking' signs are activated.

He tells us that we are now over Prescott, Wisconsin and are making our approach to the Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport. That's interesting. I mean, I certainly can not pick out Prescott from the air, and I suspect if I blinked my eyes while driving through or past that city I'd miss it. Yet, every day Prescott is singled out for recognition by one of the world's major airlines. It's a nice gesture by Northwest Orient, and I salute you, Prescott, wherever you may be.

For the last 30 minutes or so, the air has been clear. The industrial haze we are so used to seeing around factory areas is now only a memory. Truly, this North country of Paul Bunyon is remarkable beyond description.

We can see the genesis of the Mississippi River in the St. Paul environs. It's only a trickle here, but as it inexorably wends its way south to the Gulf of Mexico, it flexes its muscles and becomes a major system of transportation, commerce, and recreation.

Our giant silver bird touches down without event, and we deplane for a 60-minute wait until we catch the North Central Airlines commuter to my wife's home town of Mankato, Minnesota. It's only a 15-minute flight, and we don't get over 5000 feet. But look at the lakes. There's Madison, and Eagle, and Turtle, and many more we can't identify; and their splendor and sparkle through the unpolluted air is breathtaking.

Mental health: a sense of peace and a feeling of awe toward the majesty of creation.

From the State House

The office of services to the aging

The Office of Services to the Aging (OSA) is a permanent State Agency within the Department of Management and Budget, created by Public Act 146 of 1975, signed into law on July 9 of that year.

OSA does not provide direct services to senior citizens, but administers major grant programs funded by the Older Americans Act. Additionally, the Office monitors and evaluates State policies and programs affecting the elderly, and administers other programs as mandated by State and Federal law.

A 15-member Commission was also created by Public Act 146. Members are appointed by the Governor, with the consent of the Senate, to one or two-year terms. Ron Kivi, Director of the Office of Services to the Aging, is the 15th member and vice-chairperson of the Commission.

Working in conjunction with the Office of Services to the Aging, the Commission reviews and approves Older Americans Act grant programs, advises the Governor and Legislature on the problems facing the elderly and acts as the advocate of the elderly at the State level.

OSA ADMINISTERED PROGRAMS:
Community Nutrition Services Program

This program, funded under Title VII, places primary emphasis upon the provision of services to seniors in a congregate setting. Directed at senior citizens who, for whatever reasons, find their homes or apartments to be the only place they frequent, it encourages their participation in a program that provides a hot, nutritious meal at a site where the opportunity to meet new people abounds.

For a portion of those unable to participate due to mobility problems, it makes available a home-delivered meal to assist seniors in remaining in their homes to the extent possible. There is no charge for the meal or the services, however, donations are accepted and used to purchase other meals and services.

Anyone age 60 years old and older and their spouses, regardless of age, may participate in the nutrition program. There are no eligibility requirements but, low-income and minority senior citizens are the target populations for the services. Most meal sites are open five days a week.

Eight services are provided as a regular part of the Nutrition Program. They are: transportation, escort, information and referral, outreach, health and welfare counseling, recreation, shopping assistance and nutrition education.

Currently, about 20,000 senior citizens participate in the Nutrition Program on a daily basis.

Senior Community Services

The Senior Community Services Program provides funds for services designed to enable senior citizens to remain in their own homes and avoid institutionalization. Funded by Title III of the Older Americans Act, the Community Services Program is administered through 13 Area Agencies on Aging which serve the State.

Area Agencies are planning and coordinating bodies for services to the elderly in their particular areas. They do not usually provide direct services to senior citizens, but subcontract with local service agencies and organizations to provide needed services.

Other Programs

Facilities Development — Title V provides funds for the acquisition, renovation and alteration of facilities used as multi-purpose senior centers.

State Ombudsman Project — Section 308 of the Older Americans Act — OSA provides financial support to a State Ombudsman

Project. The Ombudsman Project works with local organizations to decrease the isolation of nursing home residents and provides information to the elderly and general public about nursing homes.

Foster Grandparent Program — The passage of Public Act No. 269 of 1976 gave OSA the responsibility for the administration of State funds for the development of Foster Grandparent services in the State. Foster Grandparents work with children and young adults in community and institutional care.

Legal Services — OSA provides technical assistance to existing legal services programs for senior citizens and helps to initiate legal services programs wherever they are needed.

Advisory Council

Thirty-six people are appointed to the State Advisory Council for one and two-year terms. Members represent consumers and various agencies and organizations providing services to senior citizens throughout the State. The Council advises the Commission and OSA on areas of concern for the elderly in their respective areas, along with issues affecting all the elderly in the State.

Jury duty reform on the way

A package of bills making jury duty more convenient received considerable debate in the Michigan House of Representatives last week, and consideration on these bills was postponed.

One of the bills would provide for implementation of a one trial jury selection by the Supreme Court, while others would remove long standing exemptions for persons in certain professions that have been exempt from jury duty.

Basically, supporters of these bills want every court in Michigan to operate on a one-trial system patterned after the system now being used by the Wayne County Circuit Court. In other words, persons called for jury duty would only have to serve for one trial.

The other bills would make doctors, lawyers, policemen, firemen, pharmacists and others eligible for jury duty. Presently persons in these occupations and other occupations are exempt from jury duty.

Persons who are 70 years old or older would be excused from jury duty on request and others called for duty could request to be exempted if they could show that serving jury duty would create a hardship.

The main argument over the bills centers around whether or not the state should force all courts in the state to implement the same system or whether or not each court should be free to come up with its own system.

Those against the bills in their original form argue that what may be a good system for the Wayne County Courts may not necessarily be a good system for the one-judge rural courts.

As the other bills stand right now, the automatic exemptions that are presently in existence would be eliminated after three years, by which time the circuit courts would be required to implement systems to reduce the amount of time each person called for jury duty would have to serve.

ROBERT LAW
State Representative
36th District

Those of you who have served on jury duty know how frustrating it is at times to sit around for days and even weeks waiting to be called upon to serve during a trial.

It appears that there will be some reforms in the jury system, but exactly what the reforms will be are not certain at this time.

As this issue progresses through the legislative process, I will keep you informed about it.

Gallien clarification

Last week's issue of the Romulus Roman carried a page one story on the city budget being overdue. In response to that story, Terry Troutt, candidate for Mayor, took exception to remarks made by Finance Director Helen Gallien. Mrs. Gallien while standing behind her quote as reported in the Roman, has requested the opportunity to clarify a part of her statement. Her letter follows. ED.

To the Editor:

I was not using the word CRIME as used in an indictment or state statutory wrongdoing but rather in the terminology used by a layman. By a crime in Romulus I mean someone not giving a good faith effort.

Under the directive of Mayor Troutt, Larry Moore, Dave Paul and I met with the late Mr. William Munger who was at the time City Attorney, and drafted Troutt's Water and Sewer Ordinance.

Included in the ordinance was a rate increase, this was not implemented because Mr. Troutt indicated we would wait until after the election.

After the election Mayor Stewart utilized the former Mayor's Water and Sewer ordinance. The very ordinance Mr. Troutt headed up a referendum drive claiming in the process that there were no political motives. He stated that he was not running for public office. In the meantime another Water and Sewer Ordinance has passed and Mr. Troutt is running for Public Office.

Candidate supports editorial

To the Editor:

Regarding last week's Romulus editorial about politics and mudslinging in Romulus - I couldn't agree with you more! I too think it's a shame that an election year cannot pass in this town without disgrace being brought to the name of Romulus.

The people here have done nothing to deserve this. They are decent people who work hard, raise families and pay taxes, but what do they get in return? — Teams and screams...and the kind of election year antics that give our city bad publicity while interrupting city services.

In the meantime, nobody gets to the real problems or issues and the people of Romulus are again left cheated. It's getting to be almost a tradition, and one I'd like to see stopped!

Romulus doesn't need any more seemingly publicity brought on by the juvenile behavior of a few politicians. What we do need is the kind of mature leadership that can be a source of pride, rather than shame, and it seems to me that candidates (who are supposed to be mature adults) should be able to present their qualifications and goals for office in an orderly manner, then let the people have a fair chance to judge the best person for the job.

It's time that residents not only expect, but demand, some dignity in city hall; some sense of calm, proper conduct from civil servants and some character in those who seek to lead us.

Our Jim a suspect?

To the Editor:

WANTED

SUSPECT: Jim Bradley — alias one sided Sam finger, pointing Phil & holier, than thou Howard

CHARGES: Impersonating a Journalist, dereliction of duty, writing biased news articles, bigotry & hostility.

DESCRIPTION: tall, white, male, easily spotted after sundown by the glow of his halo, often assumes a pious attitude. Has a low keyed tolerance for those who do not think as he does.

PLACES FREQUENTED: Romulus Roman news offices. Also check the "Cuckoo's Nest" often known as City Hall, where he's reported to have inside connections.

DISTINGUISHING MARKS: Ears are outstanding feature on this man. Subject has one enormous protruding ear, the result of listening to only one side of a story. Subject has been said to heal the blind and to walk on water. This comes from his keen ability to know all and to judge others.

Naturally a pompous holier than thou attitude is assumed when subject is concerned.

PUNISHMENT: It is most important to apprehend subject, as an operation is scheduled that will open his eyes, mind and ears. If unsuccessful, disaster measures will be taken, such as the amputation of subjects hands and a heavy application of Super glue to his mouth and ears. Every precautionary means will be used to ensure the safety of the public from said subject.

DO NOT: I repeat do not approach suspect, as his hand offered in friendship often conceals the weapons of bigotry, hostility and bias.

REWARD: To rid Romulus of lopsided reporting and to have a paper that gives news, rather than pre-formed opinions.

My turn

Gay rights, inalienable

By MAUREEN RADEMACHER
ANP Staff Writer

It seems a shame to me that while this country is demanding human rights for all people all around the world, it is considering denying those rights to some people in this country.

I am referring, of course, to the issue of gay rights, so spectacularly brought to the front pages of newspapers nationwide by the Dade County, Fla., referendum. Voters turned thumbs down to an ordinance prohibiting discrimination against homosexuals in housing and employment. The fight against gay rights was led by singer Anita Bryant and her group called Save Our Children.

First of all, I cannot understand why gay rights is an issue at all. It seems incredible that sexual preference, a very private subject, should be part of any criteria in employment, housing or any other area of life.

Whether homosexuality is normal or not normal, natural or unnatural, is really not the issue.

The issue is whether or not this country's highly touted inalienable rights can be denied to a segment of the population because they don't pass certain moral tests and do not conform with the social code.

The majority certainly does not have to conform to, or believe in, certain lifestyle in order to be tolerant of it.

As one minister, a member of the National Council of Churches, said: "When you grant human rights to a person you have not necessarily granted approval of his lifestyle."

The criteria for basic human rights is the right to live your life as you believe it is morally proper, as long as you do not infringe on others' rights.

Support of gay rights legislation does not mean either approval or disapproval of homosexuality. It is the philosophy of allowing persons who live by a different social code to "live and let live."

Those campaigning against gay rights are worried that gays would flaunt their lifestyle, and try to convert children to homosexuality.

But the gays answer that they are not trying to convert the straight world to their way of thinking. Since most people do keep their sexual lives private, it is very possible that many of us know and work with gay people and never know it.

Certainly a homosexual teacher should not preach his or her lifestyle to young students, but then again, a heterosexual teacher should not lead a classroom discussion of his or her sex life either.

I agree with just about everybody in saying that child molestations, rape and other crimes against a person's bodily integrity are wrong. They are wrong whether the perpetrator is heterosexual or homosexual. No gay rights activists are advocating such brutality.

But allowing homosexuals to live and let live is hardly going to affect the instance of sexual crimes.

Blaming all homosexuals for homosexual rape is like blaming all men for heterosexual rapes against women.

We're not talking about criminal action of one person against another, we're talking about what consenting adults do in private.

I will not say too much about Anita Bryant. It is unfortunate that the whole issue seems to be revolving around the personality of one woman. I do not agree with her, but it is ridiculous to be swept up in the name calling back and forth and risk letting personalities become more important than the actual issue.

I have long been uncomfortable with the pronouncements of the morally upright, who would tell all folks about the right way to live.

If judging of our actions is to be done, it won't be done in this world, or by mere men and women.

I've got my hands full trying to run my own life without attempting to figure out what everybody else is supposed to do.

What's in a name?

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

"Please Grandma, will you tell me your name?" my five year old grandson, Mike, looked up at me, huge eyes questioning, mouth wide open.

"My name is Joyce," I told him.

"Huh-uh," his mouth quirked into a grin. "Your name is grandma."

"Oh no, Mike," his seven year old sister cut in. "Grandma's real name is 'Mom'."

"Right, Grandma?"

"Oh sure, right," I told her tucking Joyce into the background.

"Actually you have a lot of names, Mom," my sixteen year old said.

"Oh sure," I told her "Like 'hey-you', 'Witch' and others too spicy to talk about."

"I think Grandma's the best," my seven year old diplomat granddaughter said, smiling at me and squeezing my hand.

"That's right, Darcy," I said absent-mindedly because, you see, I was thinking about it. Just who am I?

As I drew on my coat and walked out the door I told myself "I'm Joyce. I'm Joyce Sharp Hagelthorn...ME." That's when I tripped on the bottom step and went flat into a snow bank.

The door flew open and the family poured out.

"Mom, how can you be so clumsy. My God!"

"Dumbbell, how many times have I told you to watch where you are going?" and my husband pulled me out of the snow and began beating off the white stuff.

"Hey you," one of my kids shouted from the window, "didn't you know its slippery out there?"

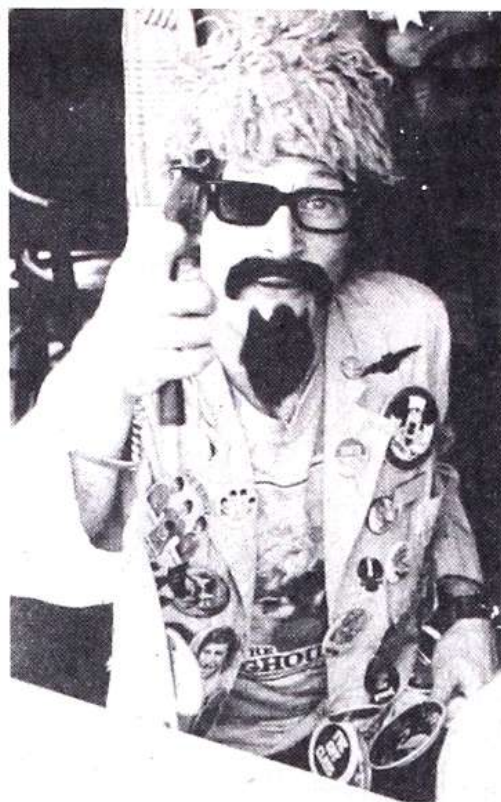

"Grandma," did you get hurt? I'll pray for you if you did, Grandma," and wrapping his five year old arms around me he put his head against the snowy coat. "I love you, Grandma."

"Me too, Grandma," my seven year old agreed as she, too, wrapped her arms around me.

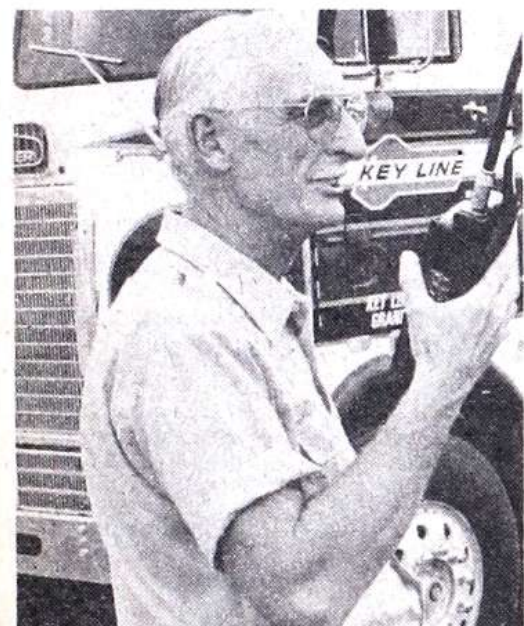

That settles who I am. I like the name Grandma best of all. That will probably last until they get older, but while it's so delightful I'm going to revel in it. Right? Right, Grandma!

Antenna height helps

Sixty feet is the maximum high you will reach with CB radio. Obviously we are talking about antennas. The choices are numerous. Let's take a look at them.

MOBILE ANTENNAS
SINGLE vs. DUAL ANTENNAS
The most popular version is the single antenna, although twin antennas make the system more efficient. When using dual antennas remember they must be mounted no less than one hundred inches apart if they are to function properly. You will find that most cars are not wide enough to accommodate them. If you are going to use dual antennas be sure to mount them side to side, not front to back. Recreational vehicles and trucks can generally use a dual system because of the width of the vehicle. With a dual set-up, properly mounted, the range is broadened a great deal! Any of the following antennas mentioned can be used either singly or as dual system, but don't mix two different types of antennas.

GUTTER MOUNT ANTENNA
This antenna generally has a short range and is effective over short distances only. If you wish to remove your antenna frequently this antenna is recommended, but the flip flop mount or magnetic mount antennas are even more convenient. Twin center loaded gutter mount antennas can be just about as effective as a base loaded antenna.

WHIP ANTENNA
The most popular version of this antenna is the nine foot whip. It comes made of metal or fiberglass. It has the greatest range of all mobile antennas due to its height.

Janice Plesiewicz
Nightbird KNN 5032

When mounted on a car its actual height is ten to thirteen feet off the ground. One disadvantage you might discover is that the whip antenna can be broken more easily than other types of mobile antennas. Since this antenna is so tall it tends to knock into things.

BASE LOADED ANTENNA
The base loaded antenna is the most popular mobile antenna in use today. Generally this antenna is about forty inches in height and it just about equals the nine foot whip it has a tightly wound coil of wire in the base mount. It is a very highly recommended antenna that can be placed anywhere except on the bumper.

CENTER LOADED ANTENNA
These antennas are similar to the base loaded but not nearly as efficient because of the position of the coil. It is located in the center of the antenna wire. The SWR adjustment is located on the coil. If this antenna is bumped or knocked around a little it tends to loosen and throw off the SWR which makes more frequent tunings necessary.

BASE ANTENNAS
There are so many different types of brands of base antennas on the market today it wouldn't be feasible to try to discuss each one individually. No matter which one discussed it will fall into one of these two classes: OMNIDIRECTIONAL or BEAM antenna.

OMNIDIRECTIONAL ANTENNA
Like the mobile antenna, these antennas pick up incoming signals from all directions. Most base installations will have an omnidirectional antenna because of the greater versatility they offer. FCC (Federal Communications Commission) says that you cannot exceed sixty feet above ground level when using an omnidirectional antenna. This type of antenna may be placed on a tower, pole or mast. The range of a base antenna is two or three times greater than that of a mobile antenna. omnidirectional antennas will usually look like a gigantic whip or have a center stem with the radials, or prongs, hanging off the center part. One recommendation I can make is the SUPER SCANNER antenna. This particular antenna can be classified as being either omnidirectional or beam. When a weak signal is heard the power can be directed to any one radial, therefore sending your signal in one direction much like a beam type antenna without having to wait for it to rotate.

BEAM ANTENNA
These antennas are great but a lot more complicated. The signals to send and receive are sent out in one direction. These antennas must be mechanically rotated. There is much more work involved in installing beams. FCC says that these type antennas may not be put more than twenty feet above a man-made structure. You may find that beams have poor pick-up in all but one direction. Usually a stand-by antenna, such as a ground plane, is used to accompany beams.

In general, it's your choice whether you want to use a ground plane (omnidirectional) or the beam (directional) type of antenna. Take into consideration how you will be using your CB before you invest your money. If your installing a base and not sure about which type of antenna to use a lot of advice will be thrown your way but keep one thing in mind, what works great for your friend may not necessarily meet your needs.

Hot weather affects food

The preparation and transportation of food in hot weather requires special attention, and Detroit Health Department Director, Dr. William Cleston, offers suggestions, in the best interest of summer fun and good health.

Always either keep food hot or cold, nothing in between. Throw it away if in doubt. Food left outside for a length of time before being eaten is subject to poisoning. Deadly organisms multiply with amazing speed on unprotected foods with no effect on taste, smell, or appearance.

Most food requires refrigeration between 40 to 50 degrees or colder. Food poisoning can be serious, sometimes leading to death. The symptoms of the most common type of food poisoning (staph) appear within two to four hours after eating, in the form of cramps, nausea, and vomiting.

Diarrhea, vomiting, chills and fever indicate Salmonella-type food poisoning and symptoms appear 12 to 24 hours after eating.

Some guidelines to follow in preparation of food include using care and cleanliness, remembering to wash hands and use absolutely clean utensils and dishes, and leaving foods that are "poor travelers", at home. Cream-filled pastries and cakes, seafood, creamed mixtures and mixed salads are "poor travelers."

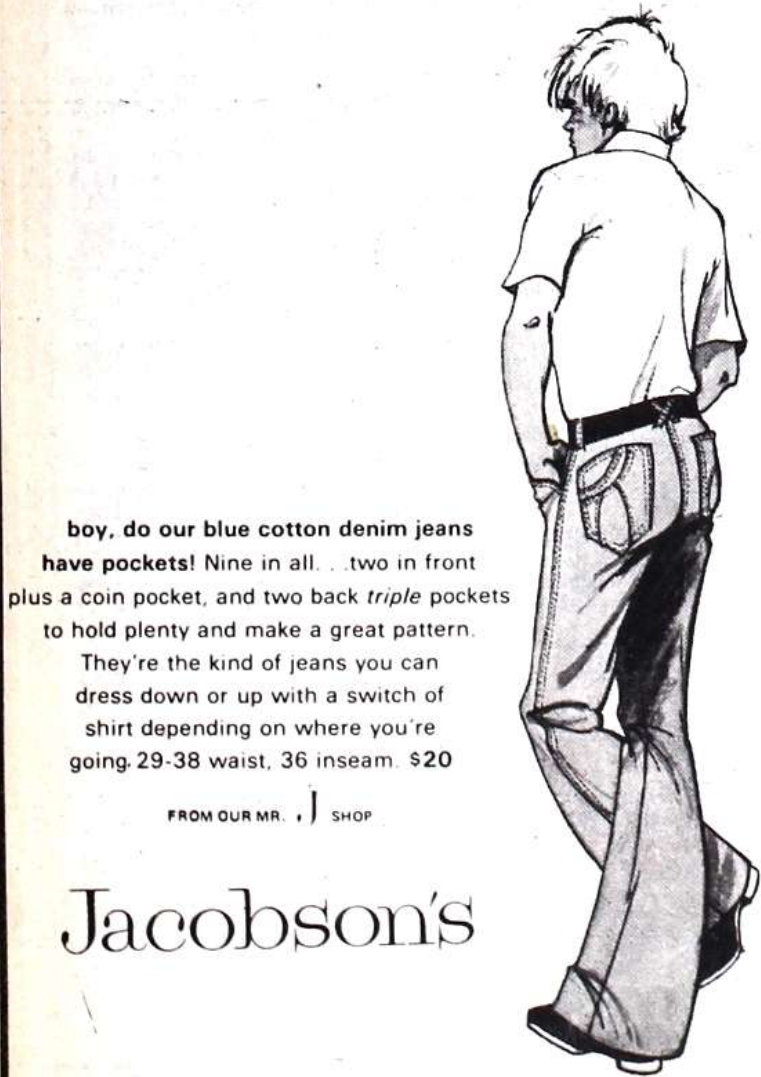

Salad ingredients and sandwich spreads should be carried in separate containers to the picnic site, then mixed together just before serving.

Safe foods should be taken on a picnic such as fresh fruits, cheese, peanut butter, jam or jelly sandwiches and canned foods.

If food is prepared the night before, make sure there is enough room in the refrigerator to store it. Food shouldn't be left at room temperature.

Perishable foods should not be placed while the family drives miles to a picnic site, and the picnic lunch should be eaten as soon after arrival at the picnic site as possible.

Real fireworks

Not everybody had the Fourth of July off, and it's a good thing. Firefighters were called on during the Independence Day celebrations to put out a blaze that engulfed the Hide-a-Way Bar located on Michigan Avenue near Van Buren Road. Fourth of July celebration notwithstanding, these kinds of fireworks are no fun. ANP photo.

Marriage workshop slated

A workshop focusing on "Current Methods in Marriage Counseling" will be offered this summer by Wayne State University's School of Social Work through the College of Lifelong Learning. Workshop will be held on Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. from Aug. 3 to Sept. 7 in the Cohn Building on the main campus.

Co-sponsored by the Michigan Association of Marriage Counselors, the workshop will be directed by Dr. Leon Lucas, chairman of the social casework sequence of the WSU School of Social Work. He is the president of the Counselors Association.

Workshop will cover the application of current modalities in marriage counseling including premarital and divorce counseling.

Two hours of graduate credit can be earned in this postmaster's degree workshop. To be eligible, persons must have a master's degree in Social Work and be certified in Michigan for marriage counseling.

For workshop information and or registration materials, telephone Alice Lamont at 577-4427.

Non-returnable containers workers could get benefits

Michigan workers who stand to lose their jobs as a result of the ban on non-returnable cans and bottles will be eligible for special benefits from the state, if a bill introduced recently in the Legislature is signed into law.

State Senate Labor Committee Chairman David A. Plawecki, (D-Dearborn Heights), sponsor of the Senate bill, said that the measure "is designed to protect displaced workers and their families from the economic hardship which may result through no fault of their own."

"Because of our decision to outlaw non-returnables in Michigan, many of these workers may be out of a job, and I believe that the state has a responsibility to help them," explained Plawecki.

Under terms of the bill, workers whose jobs involved the production or distribution of glass bottles, cans or beverages could collect up to three-fourths of their average weekly wage for a period of one year, if their jobs are terminated.

Candidates for the financial relief must be eligible for unemployment compensation, which includes the requirement for seeking a new job. The special benefits would also be reduced by the amount of unemployment compensation they receive, said Plawecki. Applications for the aid would be made through the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

"In addition to the financial assistance," noted Plawecki, "my bill will make job counseling, placement and vocational training available to the unemployed workers.

"In this way," said the labor committee chairman, "we hope to aid many able and willing workers in their efforts to find a purposeful and productive job."

NOTICE TAX DEFERMENT CITY OF ROMULUS 1977 SUMMER CITY TAXES

Senior citizen — Means an individual who has reached the age of 65 or a husband and wife, one of which has reached the age of 65 by the end of the tax year and a surviving spouse of a person who died after reaching the age of 65.

Paraplegic or quadriplegic — Must have partial or complete loss of the use of both legs or both arms and both legs.

Predict much smaller lots for future housing

Young American home buyers some day soon may have to learn to live with dwellings on 30 to 40-foot lots, as their grandparents did many years ago.

Robert Arquilla, president of the National Association of Home Builders, suggested this recently at a special dinner reception sponsored by the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan at the Northfield Hilton Hotel, Troy.

For reasons of initial cost and economy of energy, "we might well have to go back to the 30 to 40-foot lot" to be able to provide housing for our children and their children, Arquilla said in response to a question from Manny Dembs, president of BASM and of the Michigan Association of Home Builders.

"A study by the National Bureau of Standards shows that the most economical housing is of the multi-family type," he said. "Since I think most of us would hate to see the coming of an all-multiple-dwelling country, we and our community fathers should be thinking of much smaller and more efficient homesites as an alternative."

Arquilla told builders from all parts of Michigan and invited guests from real estate and mortgage lending that the industry is having a "good, solid year" with a probable 1.85 to 1.9 million housing starts.

"However, I would like to warn you that we expect conditions to deteriorate somewhat in 1978, so don't go out on any limbs. Interest rates have started to rise, as most of you know, and we expect them to go higher next year. Your prospects should know this and act accordingly."

In outlining defensive efforts on behalf of the industry and its consumers in the Washington legislative area, Arquilla said that a nationwide shortage of insulation materials impedes as a result of emphasis on energy conservation.

"Allocations on insulation are coming right now. Some of our builders report that insulation producers are alerting them to the fact they can deliver only 40 percent of last year's insulation supplies for new and old housing."

"The insulation crunch could have been worse, for the housing bill now before Congress originally mandated that all used housing had to be updated to government standards before it could be placed on the market for sale. Fortunately, we have been able to get that provision out of the bill, but had we not been able to do so hundreds of thousands of used homes could not have been sold for lack of insulation supplies, and you know how that would affect new home sales."

A second speaker at the session was David Fox, president of Fox & Jacobs, of Dallas, Tex., said to be the nation's largest home builders with 3,500 single homes built and sold last year.

Praising the Home Owners Warranty (HOW) program which provides insurance coverage for buyers of HOW homes for 10 years, Fox said his company had committed its entire production to the program at substantial cost.

"We are doing this as an investment in the integrity of our industry—a long-term investment that tells consumers we are already doing everything we can to protect them. I urge you all to regard HOW in the same light and to get involved for your own sake as well as for your buyers."

He described the political situation in Dallas and in Texas as favorable to growth and said this atmosphere resulted from "having good politicians years ago" who made the right political decisions. "They recognized that we need to house our kids and their kids and acted accordingly to defeat detrimental legislation," he said.

"Political decisions being made right now can effect the housing supply for many years in the future, and hence the quality of life for our children. That is why we all must get into the political arena and fight, organizationally and individually, for what we know is right."

Arquilla, the NAHB president elected in January, is a second-generation builder in the Chicago area, with the third generation already in the family-owned business, Burnside Construction Co., at Glenwood, Ill.

(This is the eighth in a series of 15 weekly articles on bicycle touring through Michigan. These features are designed to encourage Michigan tourism and promote bicycling near population centers.)

Ship watching, sunbathing, dunes scaling and visiting top tourism attractions are activities highlighted along a 126-mile bicycle route through west Michigan, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The circle tour rolls along a beautiful stretch of Lake Michigan, past miles of outstanding agricultural and dairy farms and through industrialized areas of Muskegon, Holland and Greater Grand Rapids.

The route is along all paved roads and provides interesting contrasts. The countryside varies from mostly flat or gently rolling to steep hills and winding roads and passes through large cities as well as rural areas.

Parts of the cycling trip are along marked bicycle routes, and more than two-thirds of the trip follows lightly traveled roads.

Persons looking for hotels, inns and motels or restaurants en route will be able to choose from a large number which range from modest to luxurious. Campground and picnic areas are plentiful, too.

The 33-mile stretch from Holland to Grand Haven is the most scenic. Cyclists travel along Lake Michigan and its towering sand dunes and pass stately summer and year-around homes.

Two of Michigan's most popular state park campgrounds, Holland and Grand Haven, are located along that stretch. A third state park, Hoffmaster, is situated near Muskegon. All three are on Lake Michigan and have beautiful, sandy beaches. Drew's Campground along US-31 is available for cyclists in the Holland area preferring a private park.

Those who begin pedaling from Holland leave behind one of the state's most picturesque cities.

Popular Holland attractions are the Wooden Shoe Factory and Dutch Village on US-31. The city's Windmill Island contains a 200-year-old windmill imported from the Netherlands called DeZwaan. The island also has splendid gardens, wooden shoe carving exhibits, a miniature Dutch village, farm scenes and Dutch artifacts.

Freighters from around the world can be seen in the Lake Macatawa channel near Holland State Park. Lake Macatawa slices the city into two sections and is good for sailboat watching.

Cyclists traveling along Lake Shore Drive from Holland to Grand Haven will find several rest areas along the way, including Tunnel Park, north of Holland, and Kirk Park, south of Grand Haven. Some of west Michigan's most beautiful homes are located in that stretch.

Grand Haven has several city parks, including one on the Grand River, and a chance to view the community's famed Musical Fountain, which features nightly concerts in light, water and sound through Labor Day.

Grand Haven also is the home of the U.S. Coast Guard Festival, which this year runs July 30 to Aug.

7. The Coast Guard vessel Raritan is based there.

Bikers must negotiate several congested city streets, including US-31 BR, and cross the drawbridge over the Grand River before reaching lightly traveled Old Grand Haven Road. Once crossing the bridge, bicyclists must take the Ferrysburg exit and turn left on Third Street before winding into Old Grand Haven Road and setting a northerly course for the eight miles to the Greater Muskegon area.

Travelers pass through mostly residential areas along Pontaluna Road, Lake Harbor Drive and Mona Lake before touring the industrialized and commercialized areas of Greater Muskegon. Maranatha Bible and missionary facilities are located on the route. The facility offers lodging and weekly religious conferences with reservations.

The 42-mile route from the Muskegon area to Greater Grand Rapids provides an interesting look at huge dairy and beef farms around Ravenna and cherry and apple orchards in eastern Ottawa and western Kent counties. Large farms also are located in that area.

One of the state's newer institutions of higher learning, Grand Valley State College, is along the M-45 portion of the route near Allendale. Aman park and campgrounds also is located on M-45, but campers must obtain a permit from the Grand Rapids Parks Department to use the facility.

The final 24 miles of the trip from Allendale to Holland provides a further glimpse at farm lands and industrial areas.

Bicyclists should pave themselves according to their ability. The League of American Wheelmen estimates the average bicyclist can cover 35 to 50 miles a day with ease. A card and pamphlet containing bicyclesafety tips are available free at all Automobile Club of Michigan offices.

Gives highlights of handicapped conference

By GERALD T. HARRIS
(Note: Gerald Harris is chairman of the Michigan Legislative Council, Organization for the Handicapped and was congressional delegate for Congressman William D. Ford to the White House Conference on the Handicapped.)

The White House Conference for the Handicapped has ended and all the delegates have returned to their own state, trying to recap the work that was completed in Washington.

The first evening of the conference was one of importance to all the delegates who attended the Grand Ballroom at the Sheraton Park Hotel to hear the address by the President of the United States, Jimmy Carter.

The President, speaking before the handicapped delegates, said: "I am very proud to be here tonight, in what I think is an historical occasion that will perhaps go down in the history of our country as a turning point in the minds and hearts of the American people in their long overdue concern about a large group of Americans, about 36 million who, in the past, have too often been ignored."

Later the President said: "The Bill of Rights for the Handicapped was spelled out in Title V of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and we are going to enforce the regulations that are specified in that bill." At that point, the audience began applauding the President, because they knew that the hopes of every handicapped individual in America was looking to Uncle Sam for their protection under the law.

President Carter continued: "I know you heard the announcement made by Brock Adams about the Trans-Bus. The federal government has invested millions of dollars in the kind of public transportation that would serve your needs. As you know, Section 504, of which I am sure now that Joe Califano has also heard, has provided a framework for regulations. He assures you that these regulations are going to be enforced."

Joseph A. Califano Jr., Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, told the delegates at the conference, "I signed a regulation, implementing Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. As you well know, 504 prohibits discrimination solely on the basis of handicap against otherwise qualified handicapped individuals in programs receiving federal assistance."

"Section 504 and the Regulation 504 constitute a striking recognition of the Civil Rights of America's Handicapped citizens, just as Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972. Their companion regulations are critical elements in the structure of the law protecting the Civil Rights."

"We will be ready to begin processing complaints brought under Section 504. More than 200 complaints have been filed with the department."

"We have established a new position in the Office of Civil Rights, the Deputy for Program Review, who will work directly with other divisions of H.E.W.", the Secretary said.

My personal view was that the White House Conference was being held during an outgoing Republican Administration, who prepared the program, and the new Administration who must implement and carry out the program. The words of President Jimmy Carter, Brock Adams, Secretary of Transportation and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, will be watched by the more than 39 million handicapped individuals in this nation.

I feel very strong about all three men. I, as many handicapped three men. I, as many handicapped individuals, will be looking for new horizons with an eye for an outstanding future for all handicapped people everywhere. I also feel that HUD Secretary Pat Harris will be making new accomplishments for the handicapped.

Pool classes set in Huron

The Huron School District will be taking registrations for the second session of summer classes in their new pool at Huron High School beginning the week of July 26, 1977.

MRS. DANIEL NIELAND

Dan Nieland, Wendy Smith repeat June wedding vows

The First United Methodist Church of Belleville was the setting June 25 for the double ring ceremony which united Wendy Lou Smith and Daniel Nieland in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Joy Arthur presided at the evening rite before some 300 assembled relatives and friends from Illinois, Ohio, Colorado, Florida, Cheboygan, Lansing, Harrison, Dearborn, Ypsilanti and Belleville.

Two baskets of white gladiolas and spider mums and green and yellow carnations graced the altar for the 7:30 p.m. wedding at which Mrs. Gwen Ashe was organist.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith of 10644 Quirk Rd., Belleville, the bride was escorted to the sanctuary by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Nieland of Cheboygan, Mich., parents of the bridegroom, accompanied their son up the aisle.

For her wedding day Wendy chose to wear a toe-touching gown of white organza accented with hand-clipped daisy lace appliques. The little fitted bodice was designed with cap sleeves and a high collar above an illusion yoke, all outlined with lace.

The lace motif was repeated in the Juliet cap securing her silk illusion veil which cascaded to floor length over the chapel train of her gown.

Completing her bridal finery was a hand bouquet of yellow rosebuds, white spider mums and baby's breath.

Mrs. Mark (Joanne) Williams came from Colorado Springs, Colo. to serve as honor attendant at her friend's wedding. Mrs. Dan (Mary) Smith of Milan, was her sister-in-law's only bridesmaid.

Their pale yellow, orange and green print gowns were accented with ivory eyelet. They wore wreaths of baby's breath in their hair and carried arrangements of baby's breath interspersed with assorted silk flowers in orange and yellow.

Roger Munson of Cheboygan was asked to be best man. Groomsman was Timothy Nieland of Cheboygan, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Mark Williams of Colorado Springs, Colo. and Chris Boyd of Ypsilanti.

At the reception which followed at the PNA Hall, the bride's mother greeted guests in a yellow qiana jacket gown. The corsage she attached to her handbag was comprised of yellow roses and baby's breath.

White roses were pinned to the evening bag carried by Mrs. Nieland, mother of the bridegroom, who donned a turquoise and orange polyester print gown for the occasion.

Following the reception the newlyweds departed for a two-week wedding trip out West.

The new Mrs. Nieland, who earned an associate's degree at Washtenaw Community College, is employed as a dental assistant in the office of Dr. Jerry Kelly of Belleville.

Her husband, who currently is attending Eastern Michigan University, is an employee of Van Buren Public Schools.

The rehearsal party was hosted by the bride's parents at their home on Quirk Road.

Baptist church in Georgia scene of double ring rite

Candlelight set the mood the afternoon of June 18 as Becky Sue Greenway and Bruce D. Eaton exchanged wedding bands and nuptial vows at Southgate Baptist Church in Augusta, Ga.

Some 200 relatives and friends witnessed the three o'clock rite conducted by The Rev. Edward Watke Jr. and later attended the reception which followed in the church chapel.

Parents of the young couple are

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Greenway of 2145 Bungalow Rd., Augusta, Ga., and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Eaton of 43500 Harris Rd., Belleville.

Music for the ceremony included "O Perfect Love" and "Each for the Other" sung by Thad Stalcup and "The Wedding Prayer" and "We Are One in the Spirit" sung by Mrs. Yvonne Holland. Mrs. Debbie Robbins and Mrs. Joyce Hadden were pianist and organist, respectively.

Given in marriage by her father, Becky appeared in a gown of Chantilly lace over bridal taffeta. The high-necked fitted bodice, fashioned with full sleeves which ended in deep cuffs at the wrist, was attached to a full skirt which cascaded into a chapel train.

A petaled lace headpiece, enhanced with seed pearls, held the bride's illusion veil which was cut in mid-back length. The bouquet she carried was comprised of white daisies and roses.

Mint green gowns, worn by the quintet of bridal attendants, were designed with "V" necklines bordered in ivory lace to match the inserts on the long, full sleeves and those used on the gathered skirts.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Kathy Williams of Augusta, Ga., with Mrs. Glenda Holmes, Mrs. Vickie Andrews and an aunt, Mrs. Gail Greenway, serving as bridesmaids and Rhonda Morris as junior attendant.

All five tucked fresh daisies in their hair and held bouquets of yellow daisies.

The flowergirl, also in mint green, was the bride's niece, Casey Lee Holmes. Davy Williams carried out the duties of ring-bearer at his aunt's wedding.

The bridegroom asked his brother, Paul Eaton of Belleville, to be best man. Groomsmen were Ray Holmes and David Williams, brothers-in-law of the bride from Augusta; Duane Eaton of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom; and Tommy Greenway, brother of the bride, who was junior attendant.

Mrs. Greenway chose for her daughter's wedding a long-sleeved floor-length gown of pink polyester to which she pinned her pink orchid corsage. Mrs. Eaton, the bridegroom's mother, added a yellow orchid corsage to her formal yellow gown which was patterned with daisies.

Following a week-long wedding trip through Smoky Mountain National Park, the newlyweds returned to Greenville, S.C. where they both attend Bob Jones University and where the bridegroom is employed at Sam Solomon's Department Store.

Siples Restaurant in Augusta was the site of the rehearsal dinner hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

MRS. BRUCE D. EATON

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM A. STEVENS JR.

Micki Jo Tinsley, Bill Stevens wed

A week-long honeymoon at Paradise in Michigan's Upper Peninsula followed the June 24 wedding of Micki Jo Tinsley and William A. Stevens Jr.

The young couple exchanged double ring vows at the Free Pentecostal Church of God before Pastor Wesley and some 40 relatives and close friends.

The six o'clock ceremony united the daughter of John Tinsley of 3215 Renton, Wixon, and Mrs. Carl Pinson of 48448 W. Huron River Dr., Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Stevens of 42991 Harris Rd., Belleville.

The bride chose for her wedding day a gown of white peau de soie fashioned with an A-line skirt which drifted into a chapel train. The fitted bodice featured a lace-trimmed scoop neckline and full, clear sleeves with an inset of lace below the elbow and at the wrist.

The pale pink bows which accented the waistline were repeated on the headpiece which secured the bride's full-length veil of silk illusion. Adding color to her ensemble was the colonial bouquet of yellow roses, white carnations and daisies which she held.

Josette M. Ottensman of Belleville was her close friend's only attendant in a beige gown imprinted with a yellow floral pattern. The long-sleeved frock, fashioned with a scoop neckline, was complimented by a bouquet of white daisies and carnations and yellow button mums.

The bride's step-father, Carol Pinson of Belleville, was asked to serve as best man.

Ringbearer was David Ulrich, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Ulrich of Romulus. Six-year-old Kimberly Pinson was her sister's flowergirl in a long pink frock and headband of pink flowers. The basket she carried was filled with white daisies.

For the occasion the bride's mother, Mrs. Pinson, wore a long blue dress with a matching cape and was presented with a white orchid corsage. Her step-mother, Mrs. Sharon Tinsley, chose a yellow gown to which she added her white orchid. The bridegroom's mother, honored with a white orchid, donned a formal gown in pink with darker pink accents.

The Romulus Progressive Hall was reserved for the reception which followed. Some 130 guests were on hand to congratulate the newlyweds, both 1977 graduates of Belleville High School.

The new Mrs. Stevens is employed at the Van Buren Township Hall and her husband at Welt Oil of Belleville.

"SHOULD I EVER DIG INTO MY CAPITAL?"

In her book, "Life is for Living," Theresa Morse maintains that a widow's capital is not always an untouchable commodity. Nor need it be sacred. It is intended to be used sensibly for the sake of security but also to help make a better, happier life for yourself.

Ms. Morse points out that, if for all the years before you were widowed, you and your husband managed your finances without your children's advice, there's little reason to begin now. Feel free to do what is important to YOU, without endangering the bulk of your capital. A trip or a special gift to yourself or others may seem extravagant to your children, but extremely meaningful to YOU.

Project the use of your capital wisely, reserving funds for emergencies, but, as Ms. Morse indicates, your welfare and happiness comes first and "your life is for living."

Advice regarding major finances can be sought from a banker or accountant, both professionals on whose skill you may rely.

Luau marks Bastedo's 40th anniversary

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

The clubhouse and lawn at Don's Executive Golf Course near Belleville were transformed recently into a Polynesian setting especially for the luau which marked the 40th wedding anniversary of Don and Eleanor Bastedo, a well-known Belleville couple who've resided in the area for the past 32 years. The Bastedos, who make their home at 50521 West Huron River Drive, were for a good many years owners and operators of Susterka Lake, the area's long-lost and nostalgic "swimming hole." They currently oversee activities at their par-three golf course.

Mrs. Bastedo was Eleanor Novak when she became a bride July 10, 1937 in Oakwood, Mich. Five children born to the union were Beth Ann, who lives in Naples, Fla. with her husband, Richard McCash and two children, Linda and Chris; William of Belleville; twins, Larry and Gary, who lives with his wife, Verna, and son, Mark, on Bog Road, Belleville; and Lisa, at home.

They, along with Jessica Van Sickle (Don's sister), JoAnn and Connie Gielinski and Barney and Janet Lastinger, planned and carried out the details on the memorable Hawaiian party.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD W. BASTEDO

In the "special effects" department, the group created a one-and-a-half story waterfall which splashed into a beautifully decorated pool which was extremely effective when colored lights played on the waters after dark. A "volcano" burned all evening a short distance from the lawn where candles and tiki torches cast their glow on the surrounding area.

A tiki bar was set up near the house where some 90 guests, all appropriately outfitted in island gear, milled about, bid each other "aloha" and later enjoyed the piece de resistance, a whole barbecued pig-on-a-spit. Many elaborate dishes were contributed by creative guests to compliment the entree.

Three members of the wedding party on hand for the gala were Lena Bollo, Agnes Novak and Robert Leighton along with others from Tawas City, Lincoln Park, Belleville and neighboring cities.

Peg Stone feted at bridal shower

Sunny, blueskies; delightfully moderate temperatures (particularly after a blisteringly hot week) and a softly wafting breeze — what could be more perfect when a hostess has set her sights on outdoor entertaining?

Such was the good fortune Sunday, July 10, when Ann Szlinis welcomed guests to her home on Harbor Lane; 20 friends and relatives who had responded to her invitation to a bridal shower honoring Peg Stone who's to be an August bride.

Colorful umbrella tables arranged on the deck and vases of blue, white and yellow daisies formed the setting for the afternoon activities which began with champagne punch and several party games. Bellevillites Joy Hill and Alice Burwell along with Pat Burke of West Bloomfield; Kathy Nash of Lansing; Jean Abbate of Northville and Mary Anne Hudge of Ann Arbor were prize winners.

The hostess drew a chorus of oohs and ahs as she, her daughter Mary Ann, and a friend Theresa Memering, appeared with picture-pretty plates bearing hollowed out pineapple halves filled with turkey salad.

Following dessert, the group (including the honoree's mother Jean Stone, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Louise Krizan from Lake City) watched the honoree unwrap the many lovely things which will soon fill the apartment she will share with Jim Krizan. Carol Hunter of Garden City; Judy Krizan of Canton and Kathy Nash helped with the packages.

Peg, the daughter of 34th District Judge and Mrs. James B. Stone, and her fiancé have reserved St. Anthony's Catholic Church for their August 19 altar date.

Friends gather to honor Judy

Another shower planned for the 10th and which was held under the summer skies was the one tagged "personal and odds 'n ends" by Debbie Duane. Honoring her future sister-in-law, Judy Frydrych, the party was held on the patio of the George Heifner home on Edison Lake Road.

A picnic luncheon was served after which the bride-elect opened her array of gifts which ranged from filmy lingerie to a dried flower arrangement.

Making up the guest list were Lu Ann Lambert of Kalamazoo; Loni Flores of Wayne, and Belleville friends: Marcia Owen, Ellen Guenther, Sue and Carol Smith, Holly Kenyon, Chris Duane and daughter, Carol, and Doreen Grishaber.

Judy's trek to the altar with David Duane is just a few short weeks away. Their wedding will be held August 12 at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

Shower tagged 'miscellaneous'

Meanwhile, the same day, still another bridal shower was taking place at the Tyler Road home of the Raymond Ostrowskis where their daughter, Nancy, was the guest of honor.

Some 50 guests came from Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Livonia, Romulus, New Boston, Dearborn, Wayne and Belleville to present the bride-elect with miscellaneous items to fill the cupboards, closets and drawers of her future home.

Co-hosting the afternoon festivities were Mary, Annette and Angela Ostrowski, Pat Lemanski, Jeannette Frost, Delores Mis and Donna Sienko. Nancy, along with her bridesmaids and junior attendant, Shari Ferguson, enjoyed appropriate shower games before they tackled the mound of prettily-wrapped gifts. A full-course buffet dinner followed.

Nancy will exchange wedding vows with Brian Shephard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shephard, on August 5 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Family unites for anniversary

Members of their family from Romulus and Inkster were in Okmulgee, Okla. recently to take part in the celebration of Mr. and Mrs. John White's 54th wedding anniversary.

The half century "plus" was occasion for a reunion with nine of the couple's 10 children and 70 additional members of the family attending. Making up the four generation conclave were the John B. Thompson family of Inkster; the Melvin Green family of Romulus and the Daniel Ross family of Okmulgee.

The remaining sons, daughters and in-laws present were the Johnnie Whites of Inkster; Ralph White of Tulsa, Okla.; the James White family of Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Josephine Bratcher of Okmulgee; Delano Bratcher of Oklahoma City; and Andrew Butler family and Mr. and Mrs. O. Jones of Romulus, and Voreese Hoggans of Okmulgee.

One of the highlights of the week-long celebration was a family song fest at which the honorees' grandson, La Terry Butler of Romulus, accompanied the group on the organ.

Heather's five; friends celebrate

Heather Prater turned thumbs down on the Raggedy Ann theme her mother was planning for her fifth birthday party and, instead, requested a "tiger" motif.

So it was that three cakes, all in the shape of graceful felines in orange and black, were served with lots of ice cream and cold drinks on the afternoon of July 9.

The party, given by Heather's mother, Penny Davis, and dad, Finley Prater, included a swimming session for the younger set who included Shawn Flockhart, Mike Davis and Chris and John Slezak of Ypsilanti; Jimmy and Jeremy Lyson of Wayne; Diane Sheldon of Flint; Junior and Matthew Davis of Monroe and Cheryle Tharp of Belleville. Twenty-nine guests were present for the occasion.

Edith Davenport named ABWA prexy

At its monthly dinner meeting July 7, the Huron Valley Charter Chapter of Ypsilanti, American Business Women's Association, elected Mrs. Edith Davenport president.

Mrs. Davenport has been a member of Huron Valley Chapter for two years and a member of the association for four years. She has served as vice-president, chairman of scrapbook and tea chairman and has worked on many other committees. In 1976 she was elected delegate to the National Convention in New Orleans.

She and her husband operate Koscot Cosmetics and she is a director of Sara Coventry Jewelry.

Other officers elected at the meeting were Mrs. Bunny Hardy, vice-president, who is "Woman of the Year" for 1977; Mrs. Mary Braden, recording secretary; Mrs.

Johnnie Courter, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. June Smallwood, treasurer.

Plans to attend the National Convention in Salt Lake City Oct. 20-23 were discussed.

All-American hot dog is nutritious, versatile

The hot dog deserves a bicentennial "hurrah!" For America can claim this food favorite as its own.

A St. Louis sausage peddler first introduced the hot dog as a sausage-plus-bun combo back in 1883. It originally made a hit with sports fans 10 years later when it made its debut in the bleachers at the Browns' Baseball Park. It first captivated fair-goers at the St. Louis Louisiana Purchase Exposition in 1904. From then on this tasty sausage, served hot and cradled in a bun, was an integral part of the food fiber of America.

Today's hot dog, or frankfurter, comes fully cooked. It is a nutritious food, providing 5 to 7 grams of high quality protein plus several essential vitamins and minerals.

With or without bun, the hot dog is a round-the-clock favorite, appropriate for any meal, even breakfast. It also serves as a great snack. The following recipes, supplied by Reba Staggs, National Live Stock and Meat Board home economist, illustrate its versatility.

Frank-ly Super Supper

- 1 pound frankfurters, cut in 1-inch slices
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon lard or drippings
- 1 can (11 ounces) condensed cheese soup
- one-third cup water
- ¼ cup catsup
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 4 ounces wide noodles, cooked and drained

Cook frankfurters, onion and green pepper in lard or drippings until lightly browned. Mix cheese soup, water, catsup, vinegar and mustard; add to frankfurter mixture. Fold in noodles and cook 10 minutes; stirring occasionally. 4 to 6 servings.

Hot Dog and Macaroni Salad

- 1 pound frankfurters, cut in ½-inch slices
- ½ cup sliced celery
- ¼ cup chopped green onion
- ¼ cup sliced stuffed olives
- 3 cups cooked macaroni
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- ½ cup French dressing
- 3 tablespoons Parmesan cheese

Combine frankfurters, celery, onion, olives and macaroni. Mix together mayonnaise, French dressing and Parmesan cheese. Add to frankfurter mixture, toss lightly and chill 2 to 3 hours or overnight. 6 servings.

Chili Dogs

- 6 frankfurters
- 6 frankfurter buns, split
- 1 can (15 ounces) chili with beans
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- ½ cup grated Cheddar cheese

Open buns and place, cut side up, in a baking pan. Place a frankfurter in each bun. Combine chili and onion and spoon over frankfurters. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes. 6 sandwiches.

Work to get more jobs for women

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has approved a resolution supporting state legislation that would open new doors in the job market for women in the 35 to 64 age group who are displaced homemakers.

The resolution, sponsored by Wayne County Commissioner Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia), recommends support for Senate Bill 196, which would assist these women by providing counseling, legal aid, financial management, job training and placement services.

It was unanimously adopted by the full board of commissioners at its July 7 meeting upon the recommendation of the board's General Government Committee.

"No group of job seekers needs more help than those women who are suddenly displaced as full-time homemakers and must enter a highly competitive labor market to support themselves and often their children," Mrs. Dumas declared.

"Soaring divorce rates along with husbands who are stricken with heart attacks and other disabling problems are throwing thousands of homemakers into an already glutted job market," she said.

"Most of these women are fearful of the work world and have nowhere to turn," she added.

Dumas praised one section of the proposed legislation for "tackling the problem head-on." The bill calls for the establishment of a multipurpose service center to provide job training and placement services. "I'm particularly impressed with the legislation because it zeroes in on actual job possibilities for which many of these women would be highly suited and qualified," Dumas stated.

Open market sale urged by Smith for child center

While emphasizing that he is not anxious to dispose of the former Child Development Center near Northville under any conditions, Wayne County Commissioner Royce E. Smith nevertheless will continue his support for an open market sale in order to resist use of the facility as a prison.

Smith explained his tactic in an interview after a June 16 meeting when the County Board of Commissioners referred the open market proposal back to the Public Works Committee for more study and recommendation.

The plan to sell the property to the highest acceptable bidder was introduced by Commissioner Alex Pilch of Dearborn, with co-sponsorship from Smith and Thomas Presnell of Westland, all members of the Public Works Committee.

Approval of an open market plan would create competition for a state offer to buy the 300-acre facility for use as a prison, Smith explained. He noted that a majority of 14 votes of the 27 commissioners is needed to put the property up for open sale.

The proposal was referred back to the committee by a vote of 12-9 with one abstention.

Hestressed: "I am not all eager to sell the property under whatever circumstances, but if we must sell I want it to serve on the tax rolls, and not as a Michigan prison."

"I would hate to reject the open market idea at this time, then later discover that enough votes exist to authorize the prison sale."

"It is important to understand too, that even if we do approve the open market sale, we still can pick and choose our options and reserve that privilege for as long as we want."

"Approval of the open market concept," Smith continued, "does not mean an automatic sale to anybody, but it will allow us the freedom to review an alternative other than the state's."

John Lee to head alcoholism unit

A local man, John T. Lee of Wayne, has been appointed head of the department of alcoholism therapy at the Peoples Community Hospital Authority's Annapolis Hospital according to Ronald G. Czarneke, administrator.

Lee, who has been with Annapolis since 1974, started his college career at Memphis State University while still in the U.S. Navy. He retired from the Navy and attended Washtenaw Community College, graduating from the first class to finish at that college.

Lee then attended Eastern Michigan University and earned a Bachelor of Science in teaching of mentally handicapped children.

He taught mentally handicapped children in reading, Mich., from 1970 until he came to Annapolis.

He is a certified social worker, and serves as a probation officer for both the 21st and 29th District courts. He is one of the founders of the awareness program for youthful alcohol offenders, and is certified by the Michigan Association of Alcoholism Counselors.

He assumed his new position on June 9.

Seven counties have land plan

The 7-county southeast Michigan region now has a completed land use plan, designed for use by local units of government as a guideline for regionally-coordinated development, following an approval vote June 22 by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

Approval of the land use plan means that local units of government now have a set of development policies and priorities to use in planning development within individual communities. The land use policy plan also will be used by the council to guide review of requests from communities for federal grants for local projects, whenever such projects relate to land use.

Together, the map and text which make up the land use policy plan will help local units of government and SEMCOG coordinate regional growth in a mutually-beneficial manner.

"Approval of the land use plan does not represent the end of the Council's land use planning activities," noted Chairperson David H. Shepherd. "Like all of the council's adopted plans, the land use plan will undergo constant review and update to make sure that it reflects changing development patterns in the region."

The policies set forth in the land use plan contain such recommendations as:

- Redevelopment of existing residential, commercial and industrial areas;
- Acquisition and preservation of park and open space areas; and
- Preservation of productive agriculture lands.

Prior to the completion of the plan, council staff held more than 100 meetings with more than 50 units of government which expressed concern about the content of either the map or the policy text. Many of the concerns voiced by local units led to changes in the plan before it went to the council for a vote.

One of the changes most significant to local units of government was a recommendation that the illustrative map be subject to frequent updating to reflect changes requested by local units of government without SEMCOG policy body approval, provided that the changes are consistent with adopted plans and policies of the council.

SEMCOG is a voluntary association of local governments from Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

Its principal function is long range planning for transportation, land use, public safety, housing, recreation and open space, and the environment.

SEMCOG's 118 members are drawn from counties, cities and villages, intermediate school districts, townships, and community colleges across the region.

a home with their children, when the time came) the need for good housing for mature adults becomes evident.

Senior citizen apartments provide a place to live without the worry of maintenance, a happy retirement from lawn mowing, snow shoveling, painting, plumbing problems, etc., as these services are rendered by the building superintendent.

Occasionally we read of a senior citizen being found in his or her home days after falling and breaking a hip, or other bone. The senior could not reach the phone to summon aid, and laid helplessly hour after hour, waiting to be discovered. A horrible experience I'm sure. But with the communication systems built into senior citizen apartments, help can be on the way in minutes, eliminating one more problem for our seniors.

The buildings also have activities centers: card games, bingo, and pool can help pass the evening hours. Being with people in the same age category most often means having things in common, and making new friends can be easier than at any other time of life.

Most S.C. housing is based on income, affording all our seniors a chance to live in decent surroundings.

There is a negative side. The removal rate of tenants, because of illness or death, in a senior citizen building I recently visited, was very high. This became the prime topic of conversation in the mornings, which did not help lift the spirits of the building's occupants.

Our seniors must be offered more than just the standard roof over their heads. Leaving the elevator in one building I visited, I stepped into an impersonal, colorless, narrow hallway that would discourage most people from wandering out of their apartments. But in another building, the hallways were painted in such cheerful colors, one couldn't help but start the day with a smile. Small details like these should be taken into consideration by building planners. Would they want to live there?

I intend to visit more apartments in the future, sharing my impressions with you when I do. However, visiting a place is not the same as living there, so I would like our readers to send in their views. Do you have any comments on senior citizen housing? What changes would you make if you were designing a senior citizen high rise? Or do you prefer to rent where there are people of all ages? Share your ideas with us. 100 golfers rev up for championship

Fellows Creek is scene of 36-hole tourney

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

The guess-work begins and the worrywarts have already begun their speculation as to who will win as a field of over 100 amateur golfers rev up for the 21st annual City Championship Golf Tournament.

In that field of 100 are three defending champs — Paul Deedler of Canton, Lacy Hills of Inkster and Mike Corden of Garden City.

Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton Township is the host for the weekend tournament. The first round will begin 8 a.m. Saturday.

Conspicuously missing is perennial medalist contender Tom Piscopink who finished second to Paul Wierkierak last year. However, Piscopink earned the Wayne title and became the inaugural Lenny Anderson Travelling Trophy winner.

The Anderson Trophy is presented to the Wayne medalist. It is offered by the Wayne Police Officers Association in memory of Anderson, the first Wayne officer killed in the line of duty.

"With most of the people back from last year, I expect this to be another blistering meet," said Bill Hawley, the tournament director. "I think we have assembled another fine group of golfers and I expect the competition to be very stiff."

It could be blistering weatherwise, also. With consistent 90-plus degree temperatures, the weekend forecast is for hot weather.

The 100 or more golfers will begin swinging Saturday for five city titles and berths on their respective cities' teams that will compete in the Michigan Parks and Recreation's Association state tournament.

The golfers will play 18 holes on Saturday, then return Sunday for the championship round.

Trophies will be awarded to the first, second and third place finishers in each flight and an additional trophy will be presented to the individual low scorer of the entire field, (medalist).

The top five golfers in each of the championship flights will qualify for the state MPRA tournament which will be held next month in Grand Rapids.

A golfer must be a bona fide resident of a city to represent it on the state level.

In case of a tie for a trophy, a sudden death playoff will be conducted to determine the winner.

The Sports Meridian

About our golf king

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

The annual ritual of putting together the field for the City Championship Golf Tournament is completed.

The paper work is done and the real lumps will come Saturday when the first round of one of the biggest amateur golf tournaments in Western Wayne County comes off the drawing boards and becomes a reality at Fellows Creek Golf Course, site of many memorable city championship meets.

Some 100 golfers have signed up, and before tee off time there undoubtedly will be the limited 125 — the most we can handle and remain functionary.

"I have played in this tournament as long as I can remember," said Bob King, who'll be 71-years-old this year. "I'm in it because I like to play — not because I want to win because, well, it's like fishing."

"When you go fishing you forget everything and when you play golf it has the same kind of effect on you," said King.

King, who is probably the dean of the participating golfers in this tournament, unavoidably has crossed paths with some of his more rambunctious colleagues, but he takes it all in stride.

"Some guys you just can't communicate with — on or off the course," King relates. "I try to avoid them like anyone would avoid the plague."

At the other end of the age spectrum is 16-year-old Westlander Greg Wagner who is making his debut in this tourney. In fact, this is "his first major tournament."

"You know Bennie Poindexter, don't you," asked Greg. "He told me this tournament would give me good experience, so here I am. I want to play."

Poindexter is another one of those veterans of the golf course who hasn't missed this tournament for years.

Though cautioned that he will not qualify for the Michigan Recreation and Parks state tournament even if he does finish among the top five in the city he'd be competing from, Greg answered: "I know it, but I'm not going to worry about that this year. Maybe next year."

Greg's goal is to break 100 for 18 holes. And oh is there a lot of "show biz" in this young lad.

And speaking of show biz, the management at Fellows Creek has urged us to convey to all those who will be competing in Saturday and Sunday's tournament:

"THAT NO WALKERS OR RIDERS WILL BE ALLOWED ON THE COURSE DURING THE TOURNAMENT."

"There are going to be a lot of golf balls flying around and we don't want anyone to invite a walker or rider," pointed out Bill Hawley, tournament manager. "And when you have people like that strung across the course it also slows play."

And, before the sledgehammers begin to fly, if, by chance or typographical error, a golfer can't find his name in the list for tee-off times — please contact Fellows Creek or yours truly.

A note from George Gillies, one of the more conscientious softball officials in the area, was too late to insert in last week's publication, so we'd like to take care of it now.

That note pertained to infant Tony T. Taube, the Westland infant who suffered from a sleeping disease since childbirth. Doctors have kept the child alive by implanting a device which helps him inhale and exhale.

However, the price tag for the modern medical miracle soared over the $100,000 mark.

To help defray some of the cost, Gillies and a group of friends organized a "Friends of Tony T. Taube Benefit Softball Game" recently and more than 2,000 fans responded.

Westland city baseball champs

Baby — it's hot outside.

And Westland Sports made it even hotter for Century 21 as the perennial Westland Major Softball League title contender pounced on 28 hits and subdued its rival 25-10.

That victory — Westland's 10th in 11 starts — didn't however change things in the standings. The Westlanders are still looking up and coveting first place which is occupied by undefeated Studio Lounge (8-0).

Vern Westerlund and Tim Abramski split six innings of pitching chores for Westland Sports and Century banged out 16 hits including three by Jim Liddy who drove in four runs, and two by Tim Griffin whose single and double produced two runs.

Liddy, the losing pitcher, was tagged for four straight singles by Dave Wyrabkiewicz who accounted for four RBI's. Tim Abramski collected a pair of triples, a double and single but missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to homer.

However, Abramski's four hits counted for five RBI's. Teammate Bruce Thompson also drilled four safeties including a couple of triples and had four RBI's. Dick Saylor was the only Westland Sports batter to hammer out a homer. He also had three runs batted in.

In another slugfest, Pete & Johnnies emerged with a 23-19 victory over West's Awake.

The two teams pounded out a total of 43 hits. Rob Eisiming outlasted loser Jim Lebert to get credit for the victory. Eisiming gave up four hits — a pair of doubles and singles to Ralph Briese who drove in five runs and Lebert got to the winner for three roundtrippers which counted for five RBI's, while Kevin Kize banged out a pair of doubles and a double.

Jim Hawkins and John Irwin led the winner's assault as they accounted for 12 RBI's between them. Hawkins laced three singles and a pair of doubles while Irwin wound up the night with two triples, a pair of doubles and a single. Teammate Paul LaFortur had three hits.

Big Bill's posted its fourth win in nine starts at the expense of last place, Bullets, 20-6. Jim Darnofal scattered 10 hits, giving up three to Gary Morzin who tripled in three runs and Tim Puchalsky who also tripled.

Rick Radatz missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to homer, while mate Steve Longenay belted a pair of singles and doubles — good for three RBI's and Bill Prevoot had four hits, including three RBI's.

Losing pitcher Irv Lalonde gave up

In the only other Major Division game, Shoppe Around buried Feister Oil 14-4 as Dennis Reitz

Upsets hit Romulus gals' softball loop

The Young Pioneers and Meadow Lanes learned the hard way that everyone guns for the league leaders.

And the two previously undefeated teams in the Romulus Ladies' Softball League suffered their first losses in their respective leagues.

Sixth-place Polka-Dot Party Store cut down the Young Pioneers 5-1, stopping the Class A leader's winning streak at eight.

However, the Pioneers remain atop of the league thanks to an 8-1 record, one game better than second place R & R Threadrolling which stands on a 7-2 mark.

Jean Hoffman pitched a three-hitter for the winning Polka-Dot contingent while she received ample hitting support from Dawn Jarnigan who drilled a single and double and drove in two runs. Debbie Owens, Brenda Kuhn and Pam Doane each checked in with two hits off of loser Rosalie Thomas.

The Hustlers stunned the Meadow Lanes' contingent. The victory boosted the Hustlers' Class 8 record to 3-5 on the year while Meadow Lanes, at 8-1, has a two-game cushion over Baldos Pizza.

Dolphins set to defend swim title

By GEORGE WHITEHEAD
Special Correspondent

With a second straight Suburban Summer-Winter Conference victory neatly tucked away, the Wayne Recreation Dolphin Swim Club is gearing toward its most successful ... hopefully ... and unquestionably busiest week of the 1977 swim season.

The Dolphins, fresh from a conference win last Saturday in a freestyle encounter, travel tonight (Thursday, July 21) to Cherry Hill High for a league breaststroke duel

... will host the Wayne Dolphin Invitational Friday (July 22) ... and hold its 1977 Swim-A-Thon Saturday at Attwood Pool.

The Wayne Invitational, an annual event hosted by the Dolphins at Wayne's Attwood Pool, will feature two sensational additions this year.

A new electronic timing system purchased by the club this year will be in use for the first time. The system—Colorado Automatic Electronic Timing—features computerized touch pads which instantly and accurately provide read-outs on times and places of each lane.

Also for the first time, joining the five conference teams at the invitational will be neighboring rival club, the Westland Barracudas, an AAU team home-based at John Glenn High and coached by the husband-wife team of Jerry and Jean Garbus.

Officials from both clubs expressed the hope that the Barracudas participation is the start of a long and friendly rivalry.

Arrangements for the invitational, which begins at 9 a.m. and is open to the public, have been handled in large by members of the Wayne Dolphin Booster Club, with help from the Wayne Department of Parks and Recreation, Lexy Staber and Kathy Greuber are co-chairmen for the event. Willis Johnson will be starter, while Shirley Head is head timer.

Carolyn Reynolds is in charge of concessions, while the mother-daughter team of Mary and Frances Chames will handle programs. Bill Balwinski and Cheryl McPartlin will be announcers for the all-day event.

Many other duties, such as marshalling swimmers, judging, working the scoring table, awards and back-up manual timing will be handled by members of the Dolphin Booster Club, an organization which numbers not only parents but supporters among its ranks.

For the Swim-A-Thon Saturday, each Dolphin has been evaluated and projected as to the number of lengths he or she can swim in a two-hour period. They have gotten pledges and will attempt to fulfill or surpass those projects. The public is

3 teams chase Legion crown

Wayne, Garden City in thick of battle

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Playing erratic in the stretch is proving costly to Wayne and Garden City in the American Legion 16th District baseball league.

Once in sole possession of first place, both manager Ken Stack's (Garden City) and Norm Hoenes (Wayne) now share its lead with Wyandotte which have 11-5 records.

Wyandotte jarred Garden City 13-3 as Stack's pitchers collapsed during the key game.

"It just wasn't there," moaned Stack about the pitching. "We did all-right at the plate — we out-hit them 7-6 — but we didn't get the pitching."

Billy Rebb started for the Garden City team and lasted 3 two-thirds innings. He gave way to Tom Poole who inherited a 6-3 deficit.

Garden City led only briefly when Jim Canfield's double scored Bill Crews in the first inning. Crews had walked, stole second before the two-bagger chased him home.

Earlier, Canfield stunned Dearborn Heights 10-0 as he chalked up a no-hitter. He fanned seven and walked two to keep Garden City in the title picture.

Tim Brady and Crews each had two hits while Doug McGill belted a two-run homer.

One of the two — Garden City or Wayne — will be evicted from first this week as the two leaders are scheduled to play one another.

In the traditional Legion All-Star Game staged recently at Wyandotte Memorial Stadium, the Blue Division, coached by Stack, outlasted the Red Division, coached by Norm Hoenes.

The Blues scored three runs in each of the third and fourth innings, then held off the Reds who rallied for three in the sixth.

Wally Gardner who worked the first three innings was the winning pitcher and Jim Canfield also saw action for the winners. Canfield notched five strikeouts in facing six batters.

Jerry Hool who doubled and had two singles, knocking in four runs, was named the Most Valuable Player of the game.

Meanwhile, Wayne missed an opportunity to take over sole possession of first place in the league when it split a doubleheader. Wayne shutout Westland 8-0 but was blanked by Lincoln Park, 4-0.

In the victory, Al Castrodale went the distance, whiffed four and walked two in tossing a four-hitter. Wayne scored six of its eight runs in the sixth inning and got excellent hitting from Jim Irwin who had three-for-four and three RBI's, and Mark Grabowski who cashed in two hits in three trips for two runs batted in.

Wayne managed to get only three hits in its 4-0 loss to Lincoln Park. Jim Harrison who worked 3 and one-thirds innings took the loss and was relieved by Bill Robertson who struck out five of the last six batters.

"The reason why we're losing so many games in the stretch," said Hoenes, "is because the hitting has quit on us. "The pitching has been great."

"We can't afford to lose anymore games — the maximum is six and we're one-away from that."

Studio destroys Douglas

Watching the title disappear with each passing week, once-defeated Studio Lounge unleashed an awesome 47-hit attack to destroy last place Douglas 37-0 in the Westland Women's Softball League last week.

Studio (10-1) trails undefeated Johnny's Shell (10-0) in the league standings and needs help from other teams in order to catch up for the title-bound Johnny's.

WYAA'S Thunderbirds

After a successful tour of the Central West Division where they won the championship with a 13-2 record, Westland Youth Athletic Association's T-Birds headed for Sterling Heights last week to compete in the state tournament. They finished fifth. Now they're back to play for the WYAA city title. Members of the team include Geri Pizzuti (kneeling, from left), Kelly Reinink, Kelly Schultz, Tammy Wilson, Julie Walker, Gail Cesarz, Cheryl Garnean; second row are manager Russ Keyes, Lori Aher, Donna Blalock, Pam Pedrys, Chris Riley, Kim Cesarz, Penny Huseman, Lisa Flach and Coach Jeff Cesarz.

their way to an easy victory when the Bears came alive and rallied for four runs in the fifth and three in the sixth but fell short 13-9.

Wally McVey collected three hits for the winners and teammates Ed Jarosiewicz and Rudy Walsh each belted triples. Furgeson pitched the first five innings and got credit for the victory and Mike Goring received the save.

Joe Glass was charged with the loss.

The Bears received a couple of hits from Al Bruchnak who drilled a homer.

The Beavers held off the Lions 10-6 after watching a six-run lead vanish in the fourth when the Lions scored all of their runs.

Ed Jarosiewicz was charged with the loss. He pitched a 12-hitter, fanned 12 and walked four. The Lions' hurler gave up three hits to Maureen McIntosh scattered four hits in posting the rare shutout.

Meanwhile, Miss McIntosh helped herself to two homers, a triple, double and a pair of singles — driving in seven runs to help her cause.

Losing pitcher Carol Kessler also gave up six hits, including two triples to Sharon Turflinger while Sharon Winkler hammered out a homer, two doubles and a single.

While Studio was humbling Douglas, Johnnie's got into the victory column the easy way. They were awarded a forfeit victory when Westway Trucking was a "no show" for their scheduled game.

In other games, the Power Packs emerged atop of an 14-8 decision with Crestwood Dodge, while Lynn's Country Bar stopped Hudson's of Westland 16-4, and Bova Post VFW buried Heads Together, 34-10.

Bova Post wasted little time and effort on the Heads Together as they leaped on their rivals for 12 runs in the first inning, then coasted to their seventh win in 10 starts.

Vicki Pier had an excellent evening at the plate as she drilled two home runs, doubled and singled in six runs. Teammate Rhonda Draher collected three hits while Becky Brown also latched on to three safeties including a homer. Sheryl Chomick made her four hits count for four RBI's.

Winning pitcher Chomick gave up a total of 11 hits, three to Tammy Mauro and two apiece to Jan Crawford and Michelle Borg, who also was the losing pitcher.

Crestwood Dodge looked good for 3½ innings and took the lead away from the Power Packs 5-3, but then the proverbial roof collapsed on them. The Power Packs struck for six runs in the fourth then went on to win.

Winning pitcher Lenore Dreyfrus survived an 18-hit barrage which included Joyce Dupont's and Charlene Whitman's three hits and Terri Miller's two singles.

Sue Ollis led the winner's assault on loser Joanne Hickman as she laced a homer, two triples and a single. Sandy Walley had a homer and a pair of singles while Chris Pascol checked in with three singles.

Lynn's Bar exploded for nine runs in the third inning, then stopped a Hudson rally to earn its fourth win of the season. Winning pitcher Jan Anzalone twirled a nine hitter as she served up a homer and single to Barb Bozibian. Terri Knight had three hits and Karen Sherman singled twice for the losers.

Crystal Minte and Judy Port split six Lynn hits and Anzalone helped her cause with two singles.

Dolphins busy this week also invited to witness the fund-raising program, which will be at Attwood Pool, Howe and Annapolis.

In racking up its second conference win last week, the Dolphins gained 12 first places in 22 relay events and totaled 220 points. Crestwood was second with 138, Lincoln Park had 136, Cherry Hill gained 98, and Allen Park scored 58.

Julie Lutz and Sarah O'Kray have spent several seasons in the shadow of more experienced Dolphin girls, but the two youngsters burst into the sunlight brilliantly, each gaining three first places in leading the Dolphin victory. Todd Melanshek also had three firsts to help pace the win.

Miss Lutz and Miss O'Kray teamed with Mary Beth Henson and Shelly Connley in the girls' 10-years-under 200-yard freestyle relay and then combined with Miss Henson and Kris Balwinski in the 200-yard medley relay. They also joined boys David Reynolds and Mike Greuber in a mixed 200-yard freestyle relay.

Melanshek, who represented the Dolphins at the state 12-under Class AA Championships this spring, gained his first blue ribbon in 200-yard 12-under boys' freestyle relay with Mike Egan, Doug White and Eric Head. He teamed with Head, White and Jeff Thompson for a win in the 12-under medley relay, and joined Mary Batterson and Sandy Burns in the mixed 12-under freestyle relay.

The Dolphins started the meet on a right note when Marlene Kowalski, Kate Greuber, Rebecca O'Kray and Heather Jones won the girls' 8-under freestyle.

It also marked the first time either girl won a blue ribbon.

Eleven Wayne swimmers gained two first-place ribbons. They are Miss Henson, Diane Brown, Sandy Burns, Mary Batterson, Mike Egan, Doug White, Eric Head, Lori Miles, Gretchen Batterson, Cathy Batterson and Brian Hewitt.

TODD MELANSHEK

Gaining one first place were Kris Johnson, Monica Jones, Kris Balwinski, Joe Miles, Kelly Batterson and Tracey Batterson.

In one of the day's closest races, the Wayne team of Harold Sleicher, Brad Rockman, Mike Balwinski and Hewitt nosed out in a judges' decision the teams from Cherry Hill and Lincoln Park.

Undefeated WYAA champs

'C' leader edges challenger

Dean Smith tossed a nine-hitter and knocked in the winning run as undefeated Tasee Freeze edged challenger Jake & Chum's 10-9 in Wayne's Over 30 Softball League.

That victory kept the winner's record untarnished and it was Chum's first setback in six starts.

Smith drove in what proved to be the winning run with a one-out single in the sixth. Jake's fought an uphill battle after trailing 4-1 for three complete innings.

The losers rallied for two runs in the last four innings.

Smith gave up homers to Ron Hayes and Dick Gordon who also had three hits and two RBIs for the game. Ron Jones chipped in two singles for the losers.

Paul Uuncig led the winner's assault on loser Tom "Hawk" Davidson. Uuncig belted a homer and singled Gary Dargo, Jim Roberts and John Wright also checked in with two hits each.

The league-leaders pounced on Bratcher Roland for seven runs in the first inning and went on to win 13-9 over the third place team. Smith again took to the mound and twirled a 11-hitter, giving up a homer to Brad Welcher who had two hits. Claude Johnson and Ed Beyer split two singles and a couple of doubles.

Tasee Freeze's John Goring got to losing pitcher Orville Turner for two hits, one a triple, and three runs batted in. Smith had two hits and teammate Rudy Ruthers laced three singles, driving in three runs.

Meanwhile, over in Class C, Jack Demmer Ford continues to chase Jac' Lounge for the league lead. Jac's has piled up a 13-2 record, while Demmer's is a notch down at 10-4.

Jac's made sure that the Ford people wouldn't make up ground as the league-leaders banged out 16 hits in a 9-5 victory over the second place team.

The showdown between the two pacesetters went into extra innings and was settled in the eighth when Jac's exploded for four runs.

Demmer's did all of its scoring in the fourth inning when it put five runs on the board thanks to Larry Coffin's two-run triple and a couple of run-scoring hits by Jim Banhan and Mike Saum.

Coffin, the losing pitcher, gave up a total of 16 hits—three each (all singles) to Gary Niemczak, Jack Danhart and Ed Paweck.

Winning hurler Bill Coleman tossed a 12-hitter.

Woolf's Aircraft maintained its half-game edge over two other teams to cling to third place thanks to a narrow 4-3 victory over Annapolis Auxiliary.

Woolf's erased a 1-0 deficit with a four-run outburst in the fourth for its sixth victory in 14 starts. Dennis Waugh belted a sole homer off of losing pitcher Bob Billing who gave up nine hits, three to Ernie Yankowski, two to Marv Steiner and a run-scoring single to Terry Doughty.

Doughty, the winning pitcher, hurled an eight-hitter and he served up a run-scoring double to Paul Vagts and a run-scoring single to Billing.

In the only other game, Cobbs Pharmacy had the right prescription for Massey Ferguson as it emerged with a 15-9 victory. Ernie Righetti drilled three hits, including a homer and accounted for five Cobbs' RBIs. Teammate Ken Sovo chipped in three singles and Bill Rohn had a couple of base hits.

Rohn, the winning pitcher, survived an 18-hit barrage which included Joe Donbeck's two singles and three RBIs. Ron Bozek turned in with three hits while Joe Donbeck and Kevin Golden each had two hits for the losers.

'Status Quo'

Extra Point remains atop Wayne women's slo-pitch loop

With J & D Auto Parts hanging in there, Extra Point isn't taking any chances. The undefeated Wayne Women's slo-pitch softball leader buried Turner's Service 16-6 to remain atop of the league.

Turner's gave the unbeaten Wayne pacesetter a scare as it rallied for five runs in the bottom of the third to close the gap to 6-5, however, led by Laurie Bleyhart, Becky Brown and Vicky Pier, Extra Point scored twice in the fourth and fifth innings before capping the victory with a six-run spurt in the sixth.

Winning pitcher Reid scattered six hits, including a two-run triple to Carol Suyak, a pair of singles to Nancy Wojewski and a run-scoring base hit to Kim Little.

Reid countered with a triple and single off of loser Pat Bledsoe who served a homer and a pair of singles to Miss Pier, and a roundtripper and single to Miss Brown.

Miss Bleyhart laced three singles and a triple, driving in two runs for the winners.

Meanwhile, J & D Auto kept it a two-team title race as they overpowered Amantea's 17-6 and humbled Mac Tools 16-5. A half-game out of first, J & D has amassed and 8-1 record and has a three-game edge over the third place Mac Tools.

J & D got to losing pitcher Joan Toor for 15 hits, Toor found herself behind 14-2 after four innings. Kathy Jankowitz was rough on the Amantea's pitcher as she hammered out three singles, a double and accounted for four RBIs. Teammate Sarah Cahan, who was the winning pitcher, also drilled three singles.

Toor had two of those hits and scored twice while Marla Miller's run-scoring single accounted for the third hit.

J & D sent 11 batters to the plate in that seven-run fourth as Linda Plasters and Sue Johnson each had two-run singles. Amantea's helped in its demise when they committed two costly errors in that inning.

J & D wasted little time with Mac Tools as it leaped on its rivals for seven runs in the first inning, scored three times in the second en route to an impressive 16-5 victory.

Miss Johnson held Mac Tools to 10 hits, two each by Elaine Blackwell and Sue Hale, while losing pitcher Jackie Steinhauer gave up a homer and single to Lou Hoeft. Sarah Kahven and Sharon McMasters also checked in with two hits apiece for the winners.

In the only other game, Amantea's exploded for 14 runs in the third inning and crushed the Local Merchants 20-5 behind Ruth Merias' nine-hitting pitching effort. The Merchants received two hits from Terri Reighard while Cheryl Fisher and Kathy Carter each had run-scoring singles.

Ruth Wendell, of Amantea's, had the only homer of the game while Johnson, Denise Halsgraves and Nancy Kroll split nine hits between them. Two of Kroll's hits went for doubles.

Showdown ahead for 2 undefeated Westland ball clubs

Though unbeaten Joe Thomas has sole possession of first place in Westland's White Division, the league-leader isn't naive enough to think that it has the championship sewed up.

One notch down and eager for a showdown is Wayne Motors which has played one less game than Thomas but has compiled an equally impressive 7-0 mark.

The two will meet to decide the division championship before the end of the month.

Meanwhile, Wayne Motors stretched its streak to seven straight at the expense of Leaseway of Detroit, 10-4. Deadlocked 2-all at the end of the first and 4-all after three innings, Wayne ripped off six unanswered runs to turn back the seventh place (2-5) team.

Winning pitcher Ron Halis scattered six Leaseway hits, giving up run-scoring singles to Al Carr and Dick Davis. Davis, the losing pitcher, was tagged for 12 hits — three of those to Rick Abbott whose two doubles and single produced three runs.

Wayne's Bob Mijal collected two two-baggers and Larry Kovacks rapped a single and double.

In other White Division games, the Wayne County Sheriff's ball club made it five out-of-seven with a one-sided 20-6 affair over Wayne County General.

Close the first two innings when the sheriff's battery had a 6-3 edge, the winners expanded their lead with two runs in the third, three in the fourth and five in the fifth.

Bob Bonner collected three singles and a double and produced five runs batted in off of losing pitcher Calvin Sailor, while teammate Mike Barnes also laced four hits and counted four RBIs.

Duane Hicks' four hits and two RBIs and Skip Johnson's three singles led the loser's attack on winning pitcher Ed Rassmussen who gave up 14 hits as compared to Sailor's 29.

Thomas' stayed perfect in the league with a lopsided 17-4 victory over the Westland Warriors. The Farrara brothers — Jim and Bob — split six hits and six RBIs and Rick Wheeler hammered out two singles and an equal number of doubles for the winners.

Thomas got 25 hits off of losing pitcher Jim Shank whose team replied with 10 — three of those by Gary Bamey.

"The turnout was fantastic," Gillies said, "Would you believe that through raffles and donations the fans raised $13,400?"

Aiding the cause were: the master of superfluity or words, Dick Vitale, newly-appointed University of Detroit athletic director and head Titan cage coach; Ted Lindsay, the rugged Red Wings' general manager, along with Tom Taylor, Westland mayor.

Of the two benefit softball games, Westland settled for a split. The gals from Studio Lounge lost a 6-1 decision to the defending Class A state champ, DAPCO of Ann Arbor, while Westland Sports Shop throttled WXYZ's would-be "Blue Machine", 20-5.

Mrs. Peggy Taube, the infant's mother, said she was thankful for the help "so many people have given us."

"I just don't know what to say, but 'God bless you all.'"

And let's hope that Tony, who has never been home, makes it home soon.

Knights making it 2-team chase

The Knights of Columbus definitely have made the Westland Community Organization Softball championship race a two-team affair.

Coming-from-behind to beat the Chamber of Commerce team 7-4, the Knights now have won seven of their eight games and trail league-leader, Wayne Ford Civic Center (8-1) by only one-half game.

Ford Civic and the Knights have pulled away from the field whose next representative, Westland JC's (Blue Chips) is four-games off the pace.

The Knights had their problems with the Commerce contingent as the losers struck for two runs in the first inning to take the lead. But one run in the second and three runs in the fourth and fifth stanzas lifted the Knights to a 7-2 advantage before the Chamber put its final two runs on the board in the last of the sixth.

Winning pitcher John Marszalek held the losers to eight hits, giving up a homer and triple to Lou Klein, while Dean Cheradini belted a single and double.

Klein, the losing pitcher, delivered six of his 12 hits to three players — Mark Szpond, John Martin and Marszalek who each had two safeties.

In other league action, the Blue Chips leaped on pitcher Dennis Bates for eight runs in the first inning and went on to whip Westland Hockey Association 18-5.

Bates, tagged for 21 hits, gave up a pair of homers to Bruce Thompson who also connected for two doubles and counted seven runs batted in for the day. Chuck Pickering also homered and singled and had two RBIs for the day.

Jerry Reynolds contributed a pair of doubles and drove in two runs for the winners.

Andy Lakotis led the loser's assault on winning pitcher Pickering as he collected a double and single — good for two RBIs.

League-leading Wayne Ford Civic managed to pick up its eighth win when J.C.'s Dinky's failed to field a team.

Bob Gray chalked up three hits and four RBIs, missing the cycle by a triple while mate Sam Varnhagen belted a couple of singles and a double which produced two runs off of loser Mike Bejek.

Jim Mijal led the Westlanders with four hits while Bill Verla contributed two, including a triple. Mijal and Verla combined for four and three runs batted in, respectively.

Crown Furniture evened up its record at 3-3 thanks to a forfeit victory over the winless Hawks.

Westland leader survives scare

Upset-minded Pedagogues were out to teach undefeated P.J.'s Lounge a lesson in softball last week and nearly pulled it off in Westland's Red Division.

Exchanging three-runs in the first inning, the Pedagogues built up a 7-3 lead before the league-leaders got serious and tallied three times in the fifth and four in the sixth to win a 11-7 game.

It was P.J.'s seventh consecutive victory against no losses while the Pedagogues' record dipped to 2-5 in the league.

P.J.'s Bob Fullerton gave up 11 hits, including three to Dan Diadun who drove in three runs. Teammate Lynn LeBlanc made two singles count for two RBIs.

Fullerton helped his cause along with five RBIs off of loser Dave Downs who served his pitching counterpart with a triple and three doubles. Don Thomas helped the winners with four hits, including a double and four runs batted in.

Westland Florist kept its slim title hopes alive with a 19-9 victory over seventh-place Quo Vadis (2-4). An 11-run Florist surge in the sixth broke open a close game. Westland had a 7-5 lead after five innings.

Ovidon 'burned', 14-13

Upset scrambles Canton C race

Mired in last place with one previous victory, the Canton Police came alive and burned once undefeated Ovidon Manufacturing 14-13.

Though the loss was Ovidon's second, it did damage only to its ego, and not the team's first place status in Canton Class C slo-pitch softball league.

Ovidon has a 10-2 record while runners-up, Metro Bolt sport 8-2 marks.

Ken Winkler, a recent all-star selection, caused most of Ovidon's headaches as he slammed a home run, singled and got aboard twice via walks.

The men in blue scored five runs in the fourth and fifth innings and came back with five then held off their rivals.

Robin Cripe contributed two hits for the winners.

Ovidon's attack consisted of six hits off of winning pitcher Jim Hanna. Two all-star picks from Ovidon, Joe Daratony and Chad McDonald, triggered the loser's assault. Daratony belted a homer and singled while Chad went three for three at the plate.

Meanwhile, McMurray's Insurance continued to hold down the Class A lead with a perfect 11-0 record.

Little Caesar's picked up its fourth win of the season in Division "A" competition by edging George Smith in the seventh inning, 12-11.

Caesar's was led by playing manager Charlie Jaskoski who went four-for-four with a two run home run and three RBI's.

Gary Truskowski and Rondo Williams banged out three hits apiece.

George Smith received its hitting support from Steve Pennington and Dave Manos who both connected for roundtrippers.

Perlongo Excavating, atop the Men's Division "B" League, edged The Lion & the Sword 12-10. Perlongo scored in every inning, tallying three runs in the third and three more in the fifth.

Ron Bills had a three for four evening with a double and two singles.

The brother act of Wayne and Dale Butzin banged out home runs for Perlongo.

The Lion & the Sword was led by Pasquale Perretti who had a perfect day at the plate with a three for three performance.

In other Division "B" action, Latin Quarter Catering upended Chapman Realty 14-10 as the winners erupted for seven runs on nine hits in the seventh inning. A balanced attack paced by Neil Carnes who had a two run home run and three RBI's was the difference.

Joe Bonnett, Nick Trapponi, Ron Lukasik, and Paul Zackarias all chipped in with two hits for Latin Quarter.

Winning pitcher Trapponi twirled an 11-hitter against Chapman Realty.

Chapman's attack was ignited by Russ Scott, who had three safeties in four at bats. One of his hits went for the distance.

The Merchants disposed of Meijer's 16 - 3 as Jim Walsh had a perfect day at the plate with two singles and a double for the Merchants.

Dan Krol chipped in with two doubles and a single in four at bats for the winners.

Paul Hebel, Kevin Collins, and Mike Slavin all had two hits apiece for the Merchants. Don Riffenburg, Wyatt Gates, and Mark Harley contributed two hits in a losing cause for Meijer's Thrifty Acres.

Romulus Class B leader posts 14th straight win

While Jac's Lounge's title express continues to coast toward the Romulus Class B softball title, Captain Nemo is having its problems shaking Huron Valley Steel in the Class A race.

Jac's exploded for nine runs in the sixth inning to humble D & L Arcade 17-10 for its 14 consecutive victory of the season. That win boosted Jac's lead to four games over the second place D & L (10-4) contingent.

Ron Pierson drove in three runs on a homer and a pair of singles to help Dick Deck post the victory while losing pitcher Andy Miller wasted a three hit effort of his own at the plate.

Meanwhile, Huron Valley lost ground on Captain Nemo's when it came up short 7-6 against the fifth place Howard's Dairy Bar last week.

Howard's broke a 6-all deadlock in the seventh when Mike Reitz singled home brother Rick with the decisive run. Rick finished the day with a pair of singles and an RBI.

Crova's surprised Little Caesar's 9-5 thanks to a seven-run second inning to claim its second win in 13 starts. Nick Wadsworth stroked three singles in four appearances at the plate to lead the winner's attack.

In the only other game, a three-run-homer by Mike Collins lifted Nemo's to an easy 20-5 triumph over Bates & Son as Collins accounted for five runs batted in. Teammate Ken McMann finished up with a pair of circuit clouts, a double and a single, missing the rare cycle when he failed to get a triple.

Showdown ahead for Westland teams

In the only other White Division game, Nite Lite Lounge broke a six-game losing streak at the expense of the Royals 13-9 as winning pitcher Tom Cameron survived a 15-hit assault. Doug Morrison paced the Royals' assault with three hits and three RBI's while mate Dan McNamara pounded a homer and doubled for three RBI's.

Cameron helped his cause with three hits, including two doubles and a couple of runs batted in. Bob Morton missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to homer. His three hits produced three runs.

Meanwhile, over in the Blue Division, no relief is in sight of league-leader B-B Marauders who have a slim half-game edge over a couple of challengers, Fairlane (6-1) and Extra Point Bar (6-1).

Convincingly whipping P & P Distributors 16-8, B-B Marauders entered the week of action sporting a 7-1 won-lost ratio.

The Bears rallied for two runs in the seventh but it wasn't enough as the Colts won a thriller 4-3. Jim Perkins pitched a three hitter — giving up singles to Glass and Leo Mulholland and a double to Eugene P'strak.

Al Brushnal was the loser and he combined with Mulholland on a four-hitter. Perkins helped his cause along with a two-run single and Greg Maxwell singled home a run for the winners.

The Rams however made their two runs count in the seventh and nipped the Colts 4-3 as Bob Kost tossed a four-hitter. Kost struck out five and walked 11.

Rick Peters' two singles produced three Ram runs.

Tony Mach, charged with the loss, also twirled a four-hitter. He pounded out a run-scoring double as did Maxwell while Jeff Auer had two singles.

The Rams scored their two runs in the rain on a Texas-league single by Peters which drove in Kost and Dan

Class D title is up for grabs

Wayne II clings to precarious lead

There is one thing certain in Wayne's Class D baseball league — Inkster Cathedral of Faith doesn't stand a chance of winning the title.

But the other three teams in the league: Wayne II, Inkster SWAT and Wayne I are playing musical chairs for first place.

Right now, it's Wayne II that has a grip on first. It got there with a cliffhanging 4-3 victory over Wayne I and by a forfeit over the last place team.

The two Wayne clubs dueled 10 innings before Wayne II settled the issue with its tie-breaking run in the decisive inning.

Larry Vojtkofsky went the distance and pitched a three-hitter. He struck out 14 and walked four while his counter-part on Wayne I, Rickie Porter, was tagged for eight hits, fanned 10 and issued five bases on balls.

Wayne II was first to score as it got two runs in the bottom of the third. Jerry Reid singled, then stole second and John Vincil was hit by a wild pitch. Vojtkofsky helped his cause with a run-scoring single and an errant throw produced the second run.

Wayne I came back in the fifth and put its first run on the board when Spaw walked, moved to third when Bob Nutt was safe on an error and scored on a wild pitch.

Wayne I took a 3-2 lead in the first and Wayne II countered with the tying run in the bottom of the sixth. Wayne I came from behind to edge Inkster SWAT 6-5 in another thriller last week. Trailing 3-0 in the sixth, Wayne rallied for six runs then turned to reliever Rickier Porter who struck out the side in the seventh.

Wayne I exploded for six runs in the first and added six more in the second en route to a lopsided 16-5 victory over Inkster Cathedral.

Tracy Conyer and Bill Spaw each had two hits for the winners.

Belleville driver vies at Flat Rock

A large crowd on Saturday night at Flat Rock Speedway saw Joy Fair, in his 77 Ventura, take the checkered flag just inches ahead of Ed Cooper of Clark Lake, Michigan.

The 50-lap Mid-Season Championship race was very tight. Fair wheeled around polesitter Buddy Bennett of Lake Orion, Michigan on lap 26, but had to go three abreast in turn four to take the lead. Dick Barker of Fraser, Michigan was third, followed by Bud Pingston of Plymouth, Michigan, and Steve Dale of Belleville, Michigan.

Danny Byrd of Dearborn Heights, Michigan set fast time with a 12:53. Steve Dale won the dash, with heats taken by Bud Pingston and Rich Seeley of Taylor, Michigan.

Figure 8 Mid-Season Champ was Ed Briggs of Belleville. Ed hit the wall after crossing the finish line, but kept going to take his victory lap. Dempsey Apperson of South Rockwood, Michigan, Jack Dandy of Taylor, Ray Herrmann of Taylor, and Al Grinde of Algonac, Michigan rounded out the top five.

Chuck Hall of Toledo, Ohio was fast qualifier with a 14:65. Apperson claimed dash honors. Jack Dandy, Gary Martin of Westland, Michigan, and Carl Butzin Jr. of Belleville were heat race winners. Hall took the pursuit.

Len Jaynes of Detroit weaved his way through the crashes and spins to win the Street Stock feature event. Sandy Pilch finished second. Heat races went to Milt Johnson and Ray Gaddis.

Flat Rock Speedway is located 1 mile south of Flat Rock on Telegraph Road (U.S. 24)

PLEASE DON'T THUMP THE WATERMELON

Watermelon is so crisp, sweet and juicy it's like a great big red smile. A picnic favorite, watermelon is a cool way to enjoy dessert on balmy summer nights, or a satisfying, yet calorie-minding snack. A fine source of vitamin A and vitamin C, watermelon, cut into big 4-inch by 8-inch wedges, has only 115 calories per serving. One whole watermelon, averaging 18 to 31 pounds, will serve up to 15 people.

Purchase watermelons that are firm, symmetrical and have an attractive, waxy look and feel on the rind. Cut-up watermelon should show crisp, red flesh that is neither mealy nor soggy. Watermelon seeds, which can range from white to black, according to the type of melon, should be fully mature and hard. The larger melons have more edible flesh, proportionately than the smaller ones.

Watermelon will taste best chilled. Watermelon should be kept chilled at temperatures ranging from 32° F. to 50° F. At lower temperatures watermelons tend to become pitted and lose flavor. Above 50° F. they lose color. However, holding a whole, uncut watermelon at room temperature for a short period (no more than seven days) tends to improve color and flavor.
